HALL OF JUSTICE TAKES COVER

Using a new concrete which supposedly will reduce leaking during Marin's drenching winter rains, workmen formed the arched roof atop the $9 million Hall of Justice at the Marin Civic Center today. Construction is 44 per cent finished—slightly behind schedule, it was reported. Completion of the roof will enable more work during seasonal showers, however.

$5 Billion In Planes Lost In Viet Skies

724 Craft Shot Down Over North

SAIGON (UPI) — U. S. war planes are getting shot down at the rate of nearly one a day this year, official American figures showed today.

A Navy A4 Skyhawk was shot down by Communist gunfire, apparently in the country's southern panhandle, yesterday—the 273rd aerial victim of Hanoi's vaunted air defense system in 1967, U. S. spokesmen said.

The Skyhawk pilot was listed officially as "missing in action" and feared dead or captured.

His plane raised to at least 724 the number of U. S. airplanes lost in North Vietnam since the war began, officials said. Eight helicopters also have been shot down over the north.

2,840 LOST

In both hostile and "nonhostile" (including accidents) categories, U. S. airplane and helicopter losses in both North and South Vietnam for the war have soared to 2,840, it was reported.

The total value of the losses was believed to be well in excess of $5 billion.

What was described as "generally poor weather"—ceilings down to 2,000 feet, visibility down to three to five miles—kept the American air raiders mostly in the southern panhandle yesterday.

STORM VILLAGE

In other war action, Communist troops, using civilians as shields, stormed for the sixth day the stonewall defense of the Allie bastion of Lac Ninh, U.S. and South Vietnamese sharpshooters smashed the guerrillas once more and managed to rescue some of the civilians.

U.S. spokesmen said the abortive predawn assault killed 28 more Viet Cong, raising to about 900 the number of Communists slain in one of the Vietnam war's most lopsided victories.

In the six day battle a total of 11 Americans and 19 Vietnamese have died, the spokesmen said.

FRONTIER HIT

Also today U.S. Air Force B-52 Stratofortresses smashed at positions held by 30,000 North Vietnamese troops, which according to military intelligence, face the line of Marine anti-invasion forces along South Vietnam's northern frontier. Navy warships pulled close to shore and joined in the barrage, spokesmen said.

They said the Communist guns slammed 103 rounds of mortar and artillery fire into the key Marine fort of Con Thien and nearby positions yesterday. They said three Marines were killed and four wounded.

Romney To Reveal Plans On Nov. 18

LANSING, Mich. (UPI) — Gov. George Romney of Michigan said today he will formally announce Nov. 18 whether he will seek the 1968 Republican presidential nomination.

Romney, who yesterday canceled an expected announcement over nationwide television Nov. 15 because the network (CBS) wanted to know by today if he were a candidate, said he would hold a news conferece in either Lansing or Detroit at 11 a.m. to make known his intentions.

He was not critical of demands made by CBS to know two weeks in advance whether he was a serious presidential contender.

"CBS requested that I let them know by today if I would announce before or at the time of broadcast," he said. "It was just that specific. For that reason I cancelled. I have no criticism of CBS."

Romney said he still has not made up his mind to be a candidate. But he spiked speculation that he is a stand-in for Gov. Nelson Rockefeller of New York and would turn over his party machinery to Rockefeller if his own effort falters.

"If I get into this thing, I will get into it all the way and it won't be for someone else," Romney snapped.

"I've never been a stooge for anyone and I'm not about to begin."

GOV. GEORGE ROMNEY
As he spoke today

Romney said certain "factors" could force him to decide not to become a candidate. He said popularity polls are not among the factors.

Romney said the CBS decision to require him to make his announcement on the Nov. 15 program was not made known to him until Monday. Romney denied that any member of his staff told CBS that the time would be used for his announcement.

Race Violence Flares, Ebbs In N. Carolina

WINSTON-SALEM, N.C. (AP) — Peace returned to downtown Winston-Salem this morning following a night of racial violence.

During the night, 34 persons, including seven policemen, were injured and 51 arrested. Three Negroes were treated for gunshot wounds.

City officials said it might be several days before an accurate estimate could be made of damage caused by looting and fires. Fire Chief C. L. Williams said damage from about 55 fires alone probably would run "into the tens of thousands of dollars."

The violence began late yesterday following the burial of a Negro man who died after being struck by a policeman.

Mayor W. C. Benton said the trouble was started by "a bunch of hoodlums who have taken advantage of a situation. This is the excuse they have been waiting for."

Negro leaders had urged that the rioting stop.

About dawn this morning some 400 National Guardsmen and helmeted police encircled eight blocks in the downtown section of the city, widely known for its major cigarette factories. All persons entering the area were screened before being admitted.

Most officers were withdrawn later as businessmen and employes began going to work. By 8 a.m. the area was open to normal traffic.

Fire bombings and reports of sniper fire kept police and firemen busy in various sections of the city before daybreak. There was looting downtown and at two shopping centers.

The outbreak began just be-

Goldberg Says Hanoi, Viet Cong Could Sit In On U.N. Peace Talk

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The United States has indicated for the first time that, if necessary, it would vote to permit North Vietnam and the Viet Cong to take part in any possible United Nations peace talks.

U.N. Ambassador Arthur J. Golberg said yesterday that if a Vietnam resolution before the Security Council were to include an invitation to Hanoi and the National Liberation Front (NLF)—the Viet Cong's political arm—and if the U.S. vote were needed to get it on the agenda, "our vote would be forthcoming."

Moreover, he told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, the United States not only hopes for are convening of either the 1954 or 1962 Geneva Conferences on Vietnam, but would "recognize the competence" of the conference cochairmen, Britain and Russian, to decide whom to invite and what to discuss.

Goldberg told the committee that President Johnson had previously indicated a willingness to accept participation by "interested nonmembers" in any U.N. Security Council action on Vietnam.

But up to now the stated administration policy has been that the United States sees "no insurmountable obstacles" to NFL participation in any talks. U.S. officials have hinted from time to time that the NLF could come to such talks uninvited, as part of another Communist delegation.

This the Communists have violently rejected since it would serve to undercut the NLF's claim to recognition as the "true representative" of the people of South Vietnam.

Thus, Goldberg's assertion was viewed as a shift in U.S. policy, at least by members of the Foreign Relations Committee. Sens. Albert Gore, D-Tenn., and Claiborne D. Pell, D-R.I., called it "an encouraging step." Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., a frequent administration critic, said he thought it "clearly the best approach."

Currently, Goldberg said, his efforts are directed at getting the U.N. Security Council to call for a reconvening of the Geneva Conference, mainly because of the apparent impossibility of getting the council to accept actual jurisdiction over the Vietnam conflict.

Britain has proposed reconvening the conference, but Russia has refused. Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin has hinted in the past that this position might be changed if the United States halted the bombing of North Vietnam and admitted the NLF to the conference.

Marin Split Favored At State Hearing

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — The chairman of a state Senate subcommittee hearing reapportionment plans today indicated he favored dividing Marin County into two congressional districts.

San Francisco's need for population to reach balanced congressional representation and the excess population of the First Congressional District, in which Marin lies "sets up a magnet and opposte poles attract," Sen. James R. Mills, D-San Diego.

Mills, chairman of the subcommittee on elections and reapportionment, said "we haven't seen any other plan that goes in another direction."

To arguments that Marin has nothing in common with San Francisco, Mills said: "It's a funny thing, but everyone I know in Marin works in San Francisco and they do not have any community of interest with Del Norte County (which is in the same District as Marin.)"

Mills' committee is expected to present a reapportionment bill to the Legislature when it meets in special session Monday. Reapportionment has been ordered by the state Supreme Court.

Reagan Facing Assessing Probe

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Malibu Mountains land owned by Gov. Ronald Reagan and such famous neighbors as Jack Benny, Bob Hope and Marlon Brando is coming under official examination by the Los Angeles County Assessment Appeals Board.

It all started when high school teacher Bryan W. Stevens of San Marino, an active Democrat, filed a petition with the board contending Reagan didn't pay enough taxes on 40 acres that the governor owns.

The appeals board voted yesterday to conduct a review hearing into Reagan's assessment—after which County Assessor Phillip E. Watson demanded the board review more than 100,000 acres in the area.

Jackie Fulfills Dream To Visit Fabled Ruins

ANGKOR, Cambodia (UPI)—Jacqueline Kennedy, turning a private visit into an international triumph, fulfilled a childhood dream today and picnicked in the fabled splendor of the Angkor ruins.

She arrived at the ruins aboard a special plane after a triumphant visit to the capital of Phnom Penh, and the Cambodian government spared nothing to add a fairytale atmosphere to the ancient city of god kings.

The white-clothed picnic table laid out for Mrs. Kennedy and her party was decorated with red roses and ringed with red chairs. Jeeps rushed up with iced buckets of reisling and rose wines, baked bass, roast veal, salad and baskets of fruit.

Before the picnic Mrs. Kennedy, clad in a pale blue shirt, hip-hugging slacks and ankle boots, climbed in the stone ruins while officials with loudspeakers shouted photographers away.

She had posed for 38 minutes

King Is Released From Dixie Jail

King and three other civil rights leaders entered the jail Monday to serve five-day sentences for contempt of a court injunction in the 1963 demonstrations here.

"I feel pretty well," announced King on the steps of the courthouse-jail.

SHE'S FOUND A CAUSE

Marijuana Smoking Principal Testifies

By DON BRANNING

SAN FRANCISCO — Garnet E. Brennan, 58, the Nicasio school principal who was fired when she owned to being an inveterate marijuana smoker, believes the fight for legalized pot is the worthwhile cause that eluded her during 30 years as a struggling school teacher.

Manifesting a slightly pixie exuberance at the sudden fame which has capped her long years of semi-hidden non-conformity, Mrs. Brennan appeared to testify at the California Assembly's Criminal Procedure Committee yesterday, and told an interviewer, "I finally realize why I was born.

"Many great things have been happening. My poor, funny old face seems to have become a symbol. For freedom. Academic freedom for school teachers, as well as for freedom for people everywhere.

"It certainly is a more direct feeling than waiting years and years to see how something has come out — some effort that I made with one of the children."

"It will be worth it to me if the truth about marijuana can be made known to everybody," she said in her testimony to the committee. "I hope something will come out of this where teachers may teach both sides without fear of losing their jobs."

Mrs. Brennan and Hugh Hinchliffe, 39, a University of California development engineer who lives in Mill Valley, were the two leaders of the Marin County marijuana revolt who testified before the criminal procedure committee, which is seeking better answers to drug abuse than heavy, criminal penalties.

Hinchliffe is coordinator of the Ad Hoc Committee for Reform of the Marijuana Laws, which raised nearly 2,000 affidavits from marijuana boosters in support of Melkon Melkonian, the Mill Valley mechanic who faces

News Blackout

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today ordered a news blackout on his operation, but Vatican medical sources said the surgery would be performed Saturday morning as planned unless there are unexpected complications.

Johnson Hit

CAIRO (AP) — A frequent spokesman for President Gamal Abdel Nasser accused President Johnson today of deliberately blocking a Middle East settlement. His accusation came 24 hours after a meeting between Nasser and a White House envoy.

Mohammed Hassanein Heikal, a confidant of Nasser and editor in chief of the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram, said Johnson cares little for the Arabs and hopes the Jewish vote well re-elect him.

Launch Delayed

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) —The National Aeronautics and Space Administration has delayed the first launching of the Saturn 5 superrocket two days until Nov. 9.

Attack In Korea

SEOUL (AP)—North Korean navy vessels today attacked a group of South Korean fishing boats, injuring a crewman in a burst of gunfire and seizing at least nine of the boats, national police said.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The roof of the Bank of America's computer center in downtown San Francisco will become a heliport April 1. Permission was granted yesterday by the City Planning Commission.

Melina Reports Death Threat

NEW YORK (UPI)—Greek actress Melina Mercouri said yesterday she had been threatened with assassination but will "never, never" stop speaking out against the ruling junta in Greece. Police placed her under 24-hour protection.

Mercouri

Miss Mercouri and her brother, political organizer Spigos Mercouros, called a news conference and said FBI agents had visited them Wesdnesday and told them of the plot on Miss Mercouri's life.

Mercouros said the would-be assassin was a Greek, 6 feet tall and 210 pounds, had curly hair and spoke poor English.

Young Winston Defeated At Polls

LONDON (AP)—The second Winston Churchill lost in his political debut yesterday but gave Britain's Labor government a good scare.

Churchill

In other special elections for the House of Commons, Prime Minister Harold Wilson's forces suffered stunning defeats in districts previously theirs by large majorities. And 27-year-old Winston Spencer Churchill II came within several hundred votes of making it a clean sweep against the Laborites.

The loss of two seats will have no effect on the government's control of the House of Commons, where the Laborites have a majority of nearly 100 seats.

Marks

Kenneth Marks, a 46-year-old schoolmaster, defeated Churchill for the seat which had been held since 1954 by Konni Zilliacus, an extreme leftist who died in July. The total vote was unusually heavy for a special election, and Labor's percentage dropped from 60 per cent last year to 46.

Able To Taste Food At Last

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Laura Blair is able to taste and swallow food for the first time in almost seven years.

Laura is a ward of the Jackson County Juvenile Court. She accidentally swallowed lye at the age of 30 months. She lost the use of her esophagus and pharynx, breaking the connection between the mouth and stomach.

Until this summer, Laura was fed through a tube in her stomach. Then, a team of doctors at Children's Mercy Hospital began a series of reconstructive surgical procedures. They transplanted a part of the colon to act as a link between her reconstructed mouth and stomach.

Laura now is in the hospital recovering from followup surgery, but is happily discovering that the taste of food can be delightful.

Suicides High In New England

BRUNSWICK, Maine (AP) — Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire have the nation's highest suicide rates, a Portland psychologist said yesterday.

Dr. Arnold Fuchs, chief psychologist at Maine Medical Center, said reasons for the high rate are not wholly understood but the many persons living remote from close human contact may be a factor.

Californians Win Congress Smog Battle

WASHINGTON (AP) — California has won its fight in Congress to keep on setting stricter smog controls over automobile exhaust than those the government will prescribe for the rest of the country.

The provision permitting California to go on setting tougher standards for its citizens than the nationwide ones was part of a major national antipollution bill passed by the House on a 362-0 roll call.

NEW SPENDING

The bill carries $428.3 million in new spending authority and broadened federal powers to fight pollution emergencies. A bill that has cleared the Senate authorizes $700 million in spending.

Conflicting provisions will have to be settled by a Senate-House conference committee. But since the California exemption was in both, it is certain to be retained in any final version.

The provision allowing California to exceed the national standards was adopted 152 to 58 in preference to language favored by auto makers that would have prescribed uniform national standards.

STATE VICTORY

The House action marked a victory for California's congressional delegation which argued that the amendment sponsored by Rep. John D. Dingell, D-Mich., and approved by the House Commerce Committee would have made it hard for California to keep its present authority.

California adopted auto exhaust standards ahead of the rest of the country and has approved stricter standards starting next year, due largely to the smog problem in the Los Angeles area.

Southland's Giant Fires Are Checked

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Fire fighters mopped up today after bringing Southern California's week-long brush fires under control but warned citizens to be on guard.

"One more Santa Ana and we've had it," exclaimed one official.

The Santa Ana refers to the dread desert-spawned hot air that every fall blows its hot breath over dry Southern California forests and brush land.

That feared wind, whipping in at 70 miles an hour at times, was a major factor in fires which blackened 162,000 acres at a cost of five lives and an estimated $10 million this week.

It is the same wind that contributed to disastrous fires in Los Angeles and Ventura counties two weeks earlier.

Victory was acclaimed yesterday in San Diego County over fires in the Julian and Romona areas that burned 43,000 acres.

Damage was placed at $6 million, including the destruction of 26 buildings.

Officials in San Diego, Los Angeles, Riverside and Orange counties — with an eye toward the next season: rain — expressed concern over possible flooding and mudslides in hilly areas where protective watershed was ruined.

Asian King Doubts Red China Takeover

WASHINGTON (AP) — King Mahendra of Nepal says his government doesn't believe Soviet reports that Communist China plans to make a protectorate of his small Himalayan kingdom.

The king told members of the National Press Club that although relations between India and China have been moving "steeply downward" his nation continues to work for friendship with both.

Troops Put On Alert Over Negro Running For Mayor In Gary, Ind.

GARY, Ind. (AP) — State riot police and National Guard troops are being ordered into racially tense Gary to prevent disorders during Tuesday's city election in which a Negro is running for mayor.

Gov. Roger D. Branigin said he issued the callup alert yesterday because of "information, which I believe reliable, indicates imminent danger to the peace of the Gary community."

Branigin refused to say how many policemen and troops would be sent in, or when. But Adj. Gen. John S. Anderson said earlier that about 4,000 Guardsmen would be training Tuesday night.

Democratic candidate Richard G. Hatcher and Lake County Democratic Chairman John G. Krupa, who is not supporting Hatcher, disagreed on the need for troops election eve.

"I think that the presence of National Guard troops might be somewhat provocative and I certainly will be interested to know from the governor's office or the governor himself what the basis was for issuing the order," Hatcher said.

Krupa countered, "I think their presence here will help to minimize any flareups, but I know there will be flareups."

He said tension was acute in racially mixed neighborhoods. About 55 per cent of Gary's 180,000 residents are Negro.

Krupa said Hatcher backers have been threatening opponents who refused to display campaign signs.

"They're going to try to keep the whites from voting."

Lawmen Soon May Ticket Noisy Autos

Beginning Wednesday, law enforcement officers not only may keep their eye on your car, but also will have ears cocked to see how your vehicle sounds on the road.

A new state law will permit arrests if officers think a vehicle is producing an excessive amount of exhaust noise.

METER LEGAL

The California Highway Patrol said officers also may use a decibel measuring device to determine whether the exhaust is "noisey," as defined by another portion of the law setting forth decibel limits.

Other recent law changes which will affect drivers are:

Vehicles other than motorcycles must have two rear view mirrors, one of which must be on the left side.

If a vehicle is constructed so that the driver is without a view straight back, there must be both left and right side mirrors.

REGISTRATION

A vehicle registration card no longer need be displayed so it can be seen from outside the vehicle, but it must be kept within the vehicle.

A driver of a car involved in an accident must report the accident to the state Department of Motor Vehicles if the damage amounts to $200; previously the accident had to be reported if damage was at least $100.

Maximum speed limit for three-axle trucks, school buses, farm labor buses and cars towing trailers has been increased from 50 to 55 miles an hour.

Motorists in snowy areas may use metal studded tires between Oct. 1 and May 1, but chains still must be used if they are required. Motorists with front wheel drive now may use chains on those wheels.

CAMPER GLASS

Camper additions manufactured after Jan. 1, 1968 must be equipped with safety glazing material on outside windows and doors.

Car dealers are prohibited from selling any car produced in 1962 or later without at least two seat belts.

The charge for transfer of a vehicle owner certificate — the "pink slip" — will go from $2 to $3. And if the transfer of ownership is not recorded within 40 days after the actual change of ownership, the fee goes to $6.

Hippies May Be Pointing Way To Future Society

Today's hippies, in their bizarre way, may be pointing the way to a future in this country when nobody has to work and only a comparative handful will.

That hypothesis was offered yesterday by Nicholas Suntzeff, executive director of the Marin County Family Service Agency, as he dissected the hippie movement, both real and plastic.

Answering a question from his Sausalito Rotary Club audience, Suntzeff implied that the unemployability of many young people — because of dress, drug habits or other hippie ways — might not matter much in future.

Many industry leaders, he said, are predicting a society based on a guaranteed annual wage, with much of today's work taken over by increasing mechanization and computers.

The change will produce social upheaval, he said, but it will mean that almost the only people who have to work will be technicians, salespersons and those in service businesses.

Suntzeff classified different types of hippies. A minority, he said, are seriously and soberly challenging the establishment and current values of society, trying to create a new society.

Others are simply dropping out, children attempting to alter parental values or rejecting them.

The hippie, he said, is only a symtom of a social revolution affecting today's families and society, stemming from the impact of new products, accelerated change and breakdown of the "extended" family of the past which included several generations.

Hippies in the Haight-Ashbury or Sausalito communities, he said, are often lacking identity and seek it in a peer group. He defined the plastic hippie as those who will drop in on the Sausalito and Woodacre scene for a day or weekend just for the fun of it, as "a Halloween type of thing."

Suntzeff said his major concern and that of his agency was the many disturbed and mentally ill hippies in the Haight-Ashbury or Sausalito.

The most serious drug problem among the hippies is methedrine, he said. He cited a case of a 14-year-old girl, a school dropout from a disturbed family, who started with marijuana at 12 and now is shooting methedrine.

"She's unreachable right now," he said, although the agency has been working with the entire family for a long time.

The girl, a ward of juvenile court, needs long term help, not police action, he said. "She knows what she's doing is against the law," he said, but she is living in the present, not concerning herself with the future.

"We're only doing a token job" with such children and families in Marin, Suntzeff said, because there aren't enough trained people to work with them.

While there is no "magic pill" to treat disturbed families, he said, some breakthroughs in treatment have cut down the time required to help some family situations.

More researchc, a better understanding of human behavior and more breakthroughs in treatment are needed, he said.

The Family Service Agency is a private organization and one of the agencies receiving United Fund support.

Father Charged In Seven Deaths

ARCADIA, Fla. (AP) — James Richardson was charged on a coroner's warrant last night with first degree murder in the parathion poisoning of his seven small children.

Richardson, 31, was charged after a six-member coroner's jury ruled he and "other persons unknown" administered the parathion "feloniously, wilfully and of his malice aforethought and with premeditated design."

"I just say I'm not guilty," the 5-foot-9 fruit picker said after Sheriff Frank Cline read the charge to him.

Bond Defeat Session Set

Why the Oct. 10 Tamalpais High School District bond election failed to pass will be discussed Monday at 8 p.m. by the board of trustees in the district office.

David D. Ring, chairman of a bond election citizen committee, will also present recommendations from his group about a future bond election.

Trustees will also be asked to make a decision on whether or not to allow high schools in the district to hold senior balls in San Francisco. Current policy has been to limit them to Marin County, but district superintendent Chester G. Carlisle is recommending that the dances be held in San Francisco on a one-year trial basis.

Report Viewed, But No Action

San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission discussed in depth but took no action yesterday on a proposal that a regional Bay Area conservation agency continue the work of the commission after it disbands.

Alvin Baum of BCDC reported the proposal, made a report drawn up on behalf of the commission, was "well received" by both the commission and members of the public present but no voting is expected until the first meeting in December.

The commission will discuss it once more, on Nov. 17 at the Blue Dolphin Restaurant, foot of Marina Boulevard on the San Leandro waterfront.

New Planner Is Announced

Raymond J. Ahearn, who has been with the Madera County planning department for the past two years, has joined the Marin County Planning Department, county planning Director Paul C. Zucker announced today.

Ahearn fills the position held for four hears by Edward Inskeep, senior planner, who resigned to take a job in Hawaii.

Ahearn holds degrees in political science and geography. He had planning experience in Chicago and New Jersey before joining the Madera staff.

Meeting Sought On Flood Plans

Tiburon Fire Protection District directors said last night they would ask a meeting with the city council to discuss effects of the proposed flood control plan on the fire station on Tiburon Boulevard.

Property owners near the station would be invited to the joint session, directors indicated.

Director Charles Estudillo was asked to discuss a sewer connection for the Paradise Drive fire station with the Richardson Bay Sanitary District board.

State Alcohol Unit Facing Streamlining

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The Reagan administration announced today reorganization of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Department's field operations, saving an estimated $38,000 a year.

The state will be split into two administrative districts, northern and southern, instead of the present three. The present Central Valleys area will become part of the northern district, said Paul Beck, Gov. Ronald Reagan's press secretary.

Edward J. Kirby, department director, said Peter Sexton, now in charge of the Central Valleys area, would become administrative assistant director in the Sacramento headquarters.

Ronald M. Lockyer will be in charge of the new Northern California district office.

The changes were recommende by the Governor's Survey on Efficiency and Cost Control, Beck said.

He resides at 137 Centro Way, Woodacre.

Eller's wife obtained a warrant charging the policeman with murder—later dismissed—but Owens has been suspended from the police force pending an investigation.

While the violence flared in the downtown area, thousands of Winston-Salem residents were unaware of it. Some 3,000 people, both white and Negro, attended a high school football game without incident.

Councilman, City Sued On Slides

A Sausalito couple yesterday sued that city and a Mill Valley councilman for damages in a mid-winter landslide onto property they own.

Jack and Lee Pollexfen allege in their Marin Superior Court complaint that the city last January directed the councilman, Michael Wornum, to remove trees and shrubbery on property he owns in Sausalito above Pollexfen property at 749-755 Bridgeway.

The land was stripped of the foiage, they charge, and this — coupled with improperly drained water — resulted in $19,088 damage to the Pollexfen land. The couple asks the $19,088 damages, plus $50,000 punitive damages from Wornum, according to Albert Bianchi, attorney for the Pollexfens.

MOUNT TAMALPAIS CEMETERY

in the Heart of our County

Marin pioneers chose a site in the heart of our county as a final resting place for their families. Today this location—at the west end of Fifth Avenue in San Rafael—is still convenient to all Marin points.

Marinites who choose Mount Tamalpais do so with the assurance that its beauty will grow with the years. The interest from a quarter-million dollar endowment fund—twice the legal requirement—is dedicated to the constant care and improvement of this 57-acre site.

Perhaps—like many Marin families—you wish to make your own final arrangements to spare others difficult decisions. If so, we invite your inquiry or a personal visit.

Suspect Is Nabbed Over Forged Check

A San Rafael man was arrested in the Bank of America yesterday when he attempted to cash a check that police said was stolen from a Corte Madera auto firm the night before.

Daniel Lee Temple, 20, of 33 Woodland Avenue, Apt. 2, was booked in Marin County Jail on suspicion of attempting to pass a forged check. No bail was set and the suspect was due to appear in Marin Municipal Court today.

Police said the check handed in at the bank by Temple belonged to B and B Auto Parts of 201 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, drawn on Larkspur branch of the Bank of America with Robert Drolla as payee. Value was $113.27.

A bank official said Temple produced papers identifying himself as Drolla but the officer called the Corte Madera firm and was told it had been robbed. Police were called.

Corte Madera police said today B and B Auto Parts was broken into Wednesday and $148.80 in cash, a portable radio and tape recorder stolen. It was not known how many checks were missing.

Homeowners Take Stand On Taxes

The Sleepy Hollow Homes Association last night went on record opposing any rise in county taxes without a rise in county services.

The decision came as a result of consideration by the Marin City-County Services Committee of some way to more equitably spread the tax rate for services offered by the county which are duplicated in cities — city taxpayers find themselves paying county taxes to finance sheriff's deputies who work in unincorporated areas.

The homeowner stand passed last night will be sent to county supervisors, said Herbert A. Brauner, president of the group. Supervisors are scheduled on Nov. 14 to consider a proposal for county services areas which would vary in police protection and its cost.

VISIT

by a last-minute agreement with the dozens of newsmen following her Cambodian visit, but at her request the government would not permit coverage of the remaining three days she will spend at the ruins.

With her was Britain's Lord Harlech and French anthropologist Bernard Goslier, the guide and curator of the ruins. Groslier and Mrs. Kennedy chatted in a mixture of French and English.

In Phnom Penh last night she watched the dance of a princess while Cambodia's high society watched her.

Mrs. Kennedy sat on a golden chair beside Prince Norodom Sihanouk, the Cambodian chief of state, for the special treat of seeing his daughter perform as the star of the Royal Dancing Troupe.

She was enthralled. But the glittering audience spent more time staring at the famous lady from America than watching the two-hour dance.

At the end of the performance they clapped. When Mrs. Kennedy rose to leave the theater, they cheered her.

It was only the first night of what had been intended as a private visit by the former First Lady to fulfill her childhood dream of seeing the fabled, 1,000-year-old ruins of Angkor.

But she was given honors usually reserved for a head of state even though Cambodia has severed diplomatic relations with the United States over the Vietnam war, raging only 75 miles away.

Volkswagen builds strong bodies 8 ways.

The following stories are true:

A VW owner went 135,384 miles on his original set of tires.

Another owner went 308,700 miles before trade-in time.

Conclusion: Volkswagens are tough.

For instance, look underneath any VW and you'll see our famous sealed bottom. This ingenious device protects a VW's insides against everything on the outside. Including time. (No other car has anything quite like it.)

A Volkswagen convertible is made so well, so airtight, it helps to open the window a crack to close the door.

(No wonder it takes two men one day just to make two convertible tops.)

Like all VWs, the Squareback and Fastback sedans are both painted 3 times over. To make what you see look nicer. And to make what you don't see last longer.

Then there's the VW Karmann Ghia. Its body is practically hand-made.

The Ghia is hand-shaped, hand-welded, hand-smoothed, hand-padded, hand-fitted, hand-stitched, hand-painted and would you believe, hand-sanded. (Whew.)

The VW Station Wagon and Camper are different, too. They don't have frames like other wagons. And they're not bolted together either. Each one is a solid hunk of unitized steel, welded together 12,598 times.

Finally, we make trucks.

(And if we make cars as strong as we do, you can well imagine how we make trucks.)

So next time you look at a Volkswagen, look at it this way:

Kremlin Blasts At Both U.S., Peking

MOSCOW (UPI)—Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev today opened the golden anniversary celebration of the Bolshevik Revolution by demanding a world Communist congress on China and vowing to continue helping Hanoi "until the American imperialists get out of Vietnam."

Brezhnev accused Communist China of tearing down what it took the Soviet Union 50 years to build and of damaging Hanoi's war effort in a keynote address to a meeting in the Kremlin's glass and steel Palace of Congresses.

CHINESE LEAVE

Communist Chinese diplomats promptly walked out of the meeting.

U.S. Ambasasdor Llewellyn E. Thompson did not attend.

"The people of the whole world, including millions of Americans, condemn the bloody crimes against the Vietnamese people," the Soviet Communist party chairman said. "The American intervention recollects the crimes of the Fascists."

In some of the strongest Kremlin oratory since ex-Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev's 1964 ouster, Brezhnev reviewed the 50-year history of the Soviet Union and then appraised current foreign affairs.

TWIN ATTACK

Reading through rimless glasses in deep, slowly rolling cadences, Brezhnev attacked the United States and Communist China at the end of his four-hour speech. The address kicked off the week-long 50th anniversary celebrations.

"Ruined schools, devastated crops—that's what marsk the path of the Americans in Vietnam," he said. "But they have not succeeded and will never succeed in forcing the Vietnamese people to their knees."

Brezhnev said Hanoi was suffering because of Communist China.

"The military success of the Vietnamese people could have been more considerable if it were not for the position of Mao Tse-tung's group," he said.

"The jsoviet Union is fully determined to render all-round assistance and support to the Vietnamese people, who are fighting for their rights."

Brezhnev said Chinese Communist party chairman Mao Tse-tung is "undermining the world Communist movement."

More than 6,000 delegates from 95 nations, the Soviet parliament, cabinet and party Central Committee interrupted Brezhnev 122 times with applause during the speech. Brezhnev soared to an eloquence seldom heard in Soviet speeches of the post-Khrushchev era.

Long Strike To End On Monday

MILPITAS (AP) — The big Ford Motor Co. Milpitas plant is pulling out of its long strike shutdown.

Directives went out yesterday to 800 employees to report Monday for reactivation of the truck assembly line.

Plant manager Floyd C. Fason said, "Although agreements still have not been reached with United Auto Worker locals at some key midwest plants, orders for light and medium trucks are piling up and we feel it is important to commence production now."

A national agreement between Ford and the UAW was reached nearly two weeks ago.

'Let Him Try' Tax Hike Blast By GOP

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson's appeal to the public to help him fight inflation by pressuring Congress for a tax increase is evoking a "let him try it" reaction from Republicans on Capitol Hill.

In an address to a consumers' convention yesterday the President asked the people to "make yourselves heard" in support of the tax increase and to join him in fighting against higher tariffs on imports.

TARIFF TALK

Johnson in effect promised to veto any tariff legislation that comes his way when he thumped the lectern and declared, "These bills must not become law—and they will not become law as long as I am President of this country."

Congressional Democrats were mostly silent about the President's remarks but Republicans expressed confidence Johnson would get burned if he tries to bring the wrath of the voters to bear on Congress in support of a tax increase.

"Let him go to the people with that issue," said Chairman Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, of the House Republican confernce.

GOP THREAT

"We'll go to the people with our side of the same issue. We want to be sure any money raised by a tax increase is used to reduce the deficit and not for more spending. Then we'll talk about a tax increase," said Laird.

Even among Democrats there is apparently still widespread doubt not only that voters favor a tax increase, but that they would forgive those who vote for it.

Rep. Jamie Whitten, D-Miss., author of one of several pending moves for a mandatory spending cut, said the basic issue is still economy, rather than a tax increase.

Rep. Frank T. Bow of Ohio, senior Republican member of the Appropriations Committee, replied to a question about Johnson's appeal with another question: "Did he also appeal to people to demand cuts in spending?"

NOTHING CHANGED

From the Ways and Means Committee, which shelved the tax increase proposal until some agreement should be reached on spending cuts, came word that nothing has changed.

A well-posted committee source said he considers it dead for this year.

But the principle of a tax increase, if not Johnson's specific program, got support outside government ranks.

The directors of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce came out for a tax boost—provided it is matched dollar for dollar by spending reductions. The chamber was one of the few large business organizations that had not backed a tax increase in some form.

Teen-Age Band Charge Halted

Complaint of hiring a five-man man rock 'n roll band with four members under 21 years of age was dismissed in Marin Municipal Court yesterday against Irving Litchfield, owner of Bermuda Palms Motel in San Rafael.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Michael Anthony told Judge Hadden W. Roth there was insufficient evidence and some indication that the group misinformed Litchfield about their ages.

Litchfield was accused of using the band Aug. 1 through Aug. 6 on premises designed for sale of alcoholic beverages.

Hearing-Speech Center Given $21,500 Boost

The Marin Hearing and Speech Center has received contributions totaling $21,500 which will enable it to operate a diagnostic and rehabilitation center at Marin General Hospital.

The William Babcock Memorial Endowment of San Rafael contributed $16,000 and the Soroptimist Club of Marin contributed $5,500, reported Dr. Russell Fletcher of San Rafael, chairman of the center board.

SPACE DONATED

The Babcock Endowment grant was one of a series it has made for medical purposes in Marin, including a substantial share of the costs of the Babcock Wing at the hospital and of the Community Mental Health Center now under construction.

Mrs. Juanita Turner of Novato, president of the Soroptimists, said that organization made its contribution as part of its continuing program of working for the hard of hearing in Marin. The Soroptimists previously had donated the mobile hearing testing unit used by Marin schools.

DIAGNOSTIC COSTS

Rehabilitation work is underway, and the $21,500 in contributions will cover the cost of equipment for the diagnostic work, Dr. Fletcher reported. This will include an $11,000 audiometric test room which will "float" within the room at Marin General and will prevent outside vibrations from interfering with hearing tests.

The contributions also will enable the center to buy an audiometer for administration of all types of hearing tests.

The hearing testing program will begin in February for patients of all ages, including newborn babies, reported Mrs. Ruth Connelly, clinical audiologist and speech pathologist, who will direct the center.

TO HIKE BUDGET

With the goal for capital expenditures reached, the center is now engaged in a program to raise the operating budget of $12,000 a year, Dr. Fletcher reported.

Anyone interested in making tax deductible contributions or in helping to raise funds for operating costs should notify Mrs. Connelly at Marin General Hospital.

$9,500 Damage In Rented House Fire

A fire, which began in a sofa, quickly spread to other parts of the living room of the rented home of Richard Carroll at 107 Bayview Street yesterday and caused $9,500 damage, San Rafael firemen reported today.

A smouldering cigarette was believed to have started the 2:43 p.m., blaze and smoke damage was reported throughout the house.

No Quorum For Union Talk Session

About 20 residents of Bolinas and Stinson Beach made a fruitless trip to the Civic Center last night when lack of a quorum cancelled the scheduled meeting of the Local Agency Formation Commission.

The residents from West Marin were all set to discuss the proposed consolidation of special districts in Bolinas and Stinson Beach, as suggested by assistant administrator John F. Barrows.

But only LAFC chairman H. G. Marchant and Neil R. Brixon of Larkspur, filling in as alternate for Jan Paul Dyk, showed up. The three commissioners who failed to appear were supervisors Thomas T. Storer, and Peter H. Behr, and Mayor J. Wayne Womack of Novato.

After waiting for about a half hour, Marchant announced that no meeting could be held and asked the West Marin residents to return again at next month's meeting, set for Dec. 7.

Gift Shop Sign To Be Reviewed

Plans for a sign and an outside stairway for a proposed gift shop at 78 East Blithedale Avenue will be reviewed by the Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee Tuesday.

The committee will meet at 8 p m in the city council chamber. The new shop will be on the second floor of the building.

SHAMPOO?

THE CO-OP WILL PUT YOU IN A LATHER.

Just as sure as you sit there, we can be chock-a-block with shampoo and a lady will buttonhole a clerk and demand, "OK, Mr. Revlon, where's the Wig-Bath!?"

We're sorry, but sometimes it happens. What we try to do at the Co-op is stock three kinds of choices. A choice of brands, a choice of quality and a choice of price. We think it's better to have a real choice than the same thing in six brands.

Soap or soup, exotic coffees, . . . oriental and soul foods . . . ox tail, fresh herbs, stone ground breads, . . . gallon sizes, bulk quantities, whatever's on your list, chances are we've really got a better selection than most—and at the right price.

Remember, as members we share in the ownership and run the store. But do you have to be a member to shop at a Co-op? No. But if you'd like some information on membership, stop at the information booth in any Co-op store. We even have a choice of stores.

I'd like to learn more about participating in Co-op membership. Please send Co-op membership information to:

Dual-Purpose Bus Film To Be Shown

A dual-purpose bus which can run on rails or on highways will be shown on film at next Wednesday's meeting of the Tri-Partite Transportation Committee.

The meeting of the group, which comprises representatives from Marin, San Francisco and the Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District, will be held at 10 a.m. Nov. 8 at the Golden Gate Bridge toll plaza.

The dual-purpose bus is a vehicle which Marin Transit District Manager Seymour Kashin says should be considered for possible use in Marin as an interim solution to traffic congestion. Kashin envisages buses running on tracks over existing railroad rights of way, then switching to regular wheels over the Golden Gate Bridge.

Other items on the committee's agenda are Greyhound's proposed fare increase and the San Francisco supervisors' resolution opposing the second decking of the gate span.

Former Green Beret Member To Report On Viet Scene

Former Sgt. Tom Hollingsworth, for nine years a member of the Green Berets, will tell about "Behind the Scenes in Vietnam" at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Little Theater, Redwood High School, Larkspur.

Hollingsworth spent more than four years in Southeast Asia on missions that took him to Laos, Thailand and South Vietnam.

While there he lived among the native population, training the people to defend themselves against Communist infiltration and terror tactics.

He will describe such tactics and the Communists methods of infiltrating and capturing Vietnamese villages.

Hollingsworth charges that "We are in World War III already and American men are being senselessly sacrificed, because they are not allowed to win."

Hollingsworth's talk is one in a series of lectures sponsored by the John Birch Society's Truth About Civil Turmoil Committee (TACT).

Overlong Jail Visit Brings Mrs. Savio Fine

PLEASANTON (UPI) — Mrs. Suzanne Savio, 28, Berkeley, wife of free speech firebrand Mario Savio, has been fined $110 and placed on probation for trying to prolong a jail visit with her husband.

She pleaded no contest to a charge of disturbing the peace. Municipal Judge William H. Gale Jr. sentenced Mrs. Savio yesterday.

The incident occurred when she refused to leave at the end of a visiting period at the Santa Rita Rehabilitation Center. Savio was serving 120 days for his part in demonstrations on the University of California campus.

Terms of Mrs. Savio's probation include her continued consultations with a psychiatrist and agreement not to attend or participate in demonstrations of any kind. She had agreed to similar terms of court probation for her part in the 1964 Free Speech Movement demonstrations.

Novato Bond Issue Viewed

The proposed parks and streets improvement bond issue was explained to 14 invited citizens last night at the Novato Savings and Loan conference room by the mayor, councilmen and city staff of Novato.

Lawrence A. Coleman, public works director, explained the program of street improvements which would be obtained by passage of the $5,750,000 street bond issue on the special Jan. 23 election. Edward W. Adams, parks and recreation director, explained the parks that would be purchased and improvement made to them if the $2,250,000 park bond issue passed.

Mayor J. Wayne Womack outlined how a citizens committee could work for passage of the bonds, but did not name anyone to such a committee, Coleman said. The group adjourned to next Tuesday, the time and place to be set, Coleman said.

Construction Permits Up Last Month

Total value of construction in Marin County's unincorporated areas last month was nearly four times the amount recorded for October of last year, according to figures compiled by the Marin County Building Inspection department.

"Construction has picked up considerably, particularly in residences," said Cecilia A. Hawk, clerk of the county inspection department.

Last month the department recorded a total of 50 permits for home construction, valued at $1,255,640. These and other permits brought the October total to $1,721,428. During October of 1966, total value of building permits came to only $457,000, including eight residences.

The total value of construction permits issued by the county during the last three months were as follows:

August — $1,250,000, including 27 homes; September — $2,199,917, including 17 homes; October — $1,721,428, including 50 homes.

The September total exceeded $2 million only because $1,314,000 for the Community Mental Health building at Marin General Hospital was recorded during that month.

Arraignment Held On Forgery Charge

Dennis Allen Thomas, 22, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony charge of forgery. Plea entry was scheduled for this afternoon.

Thomas, already serving time in state prison at California Medical Facility, Vacaville, is accused of forging a $34 check in Mill Valley April 26 with intent to defraud Raymond J. Dolan of San Rafael.

Talks Fruitful, But Golf Match Is Lost

KUALA LUMPUR (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey and Malaysian officials got in a round of golf course diplomacy today. Humphrey said the talk was "very fruitful" but he and his aides lost the match.

"We went down to defaat, but we went down in honor," Humphrey said. The vice president arrived Wednesday night from South Vietnam and goes to Indonesia tomorrow.

The Malaysian team, which included Deputy Prime Minister Tun Abdul Razak and Information Minister Senu Bin Abdul Rahman, won only because Rahman had been to "school in California," Humphrey joked.

Prime Minister Tunku Abdul Rahman did not play because he has a badly sprained ankle. An avid golfer, Rahman customarily takes his visitors to the links and employs the relaxed atmosphere there to resolve disputed issues. There was no indication, though, of any points in dispute between Humphrey and the Malaysians.

Monkey Disease Hits Lab Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government has asked drug manufacturers to stop using African green monkeys in making Sabin oral polio vaccine.

The move came after an undiagnosed disease involving the animals caused seven deaths in Germany.

Officials said all polio vaccine now on the American market is safe and the danger of any infection in the United States is remote, because all animals brought into the country are quarantined for six weeks. In Germany the monkeys were used within a day after their importation from Uganda.

Workman Survives A 75-Foot Plunge

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A workman survived a 75-foot fall down a lightwell from the roof of a six-story apartment building yesterday.

Doctors at San Francisco General Hospital said Curtis LeCompte, 25, sustained a compound fracture of the right leg and hip, back and internal injuries.

Father Battles To Get Job As Airline Steward

NEW YORK (AP) — All right, so airline stewardesses have shapely legs for male passengers to ogle. So they cut cute figures in miniskirts. Is that any reason for Pan American World Airways to refuse to hire Roderick McNeil for the job?

McNeil, 32, an Air Force veteran and father of three, lodged charges against Pan Am with the State Commission for Human Rights, alleging violation of a state law barring job discrimination because of sex.

Commission investigators found there was indeed a possible violation and after three days of hearings adjourned them yesterday for two months so Pan Am can line up defense witnesses.

McNeil has been scheduling pilots and stewardesses for Pan Am flights. Eventually he, too, wanted to go where he was sending them.

Santa Visit Set

Plans for a visit by Santa Claus to Marin Estates in Corte Madera on Dec. 17 were made last night by the Homeowenrs Association, according to the president, Dr. Herbert R. Husen. A membership drive for 1968 was also launched at the meeting.

Novato Downtown Study Discussed

The Novato Downtown Study Committee yesterday met with a planning consultant to discuss how to make a detailed study of the Novato downtown area.

Dr. Claude Gruen, planning consultant with Arthur D. Little Co. of San Francisco, told the group that it should start with an economic study of the downtown area and then make a physical study of it before coming up with the final plan.

The committee asked the city planning staff to have another planning consultant to give his ideas of how to conduct a downtown study at its meeting next Thursday afternoon.

MODEL IN COOPERATION

Gov. Ronald Reagan calls cooperation between California and the Mexican state of Baja California a "model for all the border states of the world." His praise came yesterday during a speech to the Commission of the Californias. With Reagan here at Mexecali are his wife and Gov. Raul Sanchez Diaz of Baja California. (UPI Telephoto)

Ex-Warden, Chaplain Urge An End To Death Penalty

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The death penalty offends the dignity of man a former warden of San Quentin prison told a unique hearing into the abolishment of capital punishment Thursday.

Clinton T. Duffy, who served as warden of the state penitentiary for 11 years and watched numerous men go to their deaths in the gas chamber, told the hearing before Superior Court Judge Herbert V. Walker:

'We want an eye for an eye and that's wrong. It is wrong for these people to kill and it is wrong for the state to kill. I believe the dignity of man is offended by the state killing people. Any killing is not consistent with standards of decency."

The American Civil Liberties Union obtained the hearing on a motion which contends the death penalty constitutes cruel and unusual punishment in violation of the constitution.

The ACLU intervened in the case of Robert Emmett Thornton, 24, who is condemned to die for kidnaping, robbery and sex perversion.

The Rev. M. Byron Eshelman, Protestant chaplain at San Quentin for 16 years, agreed with Duffy.

"The predicament of those last hours, some times last minutes is certainly tragic," he added. "Some of the men have hallucinations . . . some would see visions and some wouldn't respond at all."

Dr. Eshelman said the death penalty violated his religious believes and was "certainly a cruel penalty."

The hearing is expected to last for 10 days during which time the ACLU is expected to present scores of witnesses to testify against capital punishment.

Prison Jobs Are Still Open

San Quentin prison is accepting applications for correctional officer jobs, Warden Louis S. Nelson announced today.

Applications must be filed at San Quentin or at the State Personnel Office, 515 Van Ness Avenue, San Francisco between next Wednesday and Nov. 22, he said.

A written examination will be given Nov. 27 and an oral examination Nov. 29. Applicants must be from 21 to 45 years of age, have two years of work experience and have completed high school.

The salary range is from $545 a month to $663.

Woman Reported In Poor Condition

Mrs. Jean B. Lambrecht, 24, of 1495 Casa Buena Drive, Corte Madera, was reported in poor condition today in Marin General Hospital after taking an overdose of pills, Tiburon sheriff's deputies said.

Deputies said she collapsed after leaving her car in the Tiburon Lodge parking lot at 2:50 a.m. today. Mrs. Lambrecht reported quarreling with her husband, Jack.

Sanitation District Plans Annexation

San Rafael Sanitation District directors said last night they plan to include a small piece of property on Bret Harte Lane and Bret Harte Road in the Bret Harte Heights Sewer Assessment District, and scheduled a hearing on the switch for Dec. 7.

Directors also approved a sewer connection for Frank Stuart of Peacock Gap in the Marin Bay Sewer Assessment District.

Bombs Planted

HONG KON G(AP) — Communists planted more than 100 bombs in Hong Kong today and demonstrated outside a prison, claiming hundreds of Communist prisoners were victims of political suppression and lacked food and clothing.

Chiang Kai-Shek broke with communists in 1927.

Veterinary Clinic Asked For Tiburon

Application for construction of a veterinary clinic on a portion of Blackie's Pasture in Tiburon will be heard by the Tiburon Planning Commission at its regular meeting at 8 p.m. Monday in the Tiburon City Hall.

The proposed veterinary clinic is part of a three building complex, including a medical clinic and professional offices, for which Peter Valentine has filed application. The land is at Tiburon Boulevard near Reed Ranch Road. While a medical clinic would be permitted under the existing limited agriculture zoning, the question of whether this would include facilities for the practice of veterinary medicine is open to interpretation by the planning body.

The council will also hear the appeal of Edward Dowd to grant a lot split of his property at Paradise Drive near Paradise Cay. The lot split application was previously denied by the commission.

The extension of two streets — Esperanza Street, and Porto Marino Drive, will be considered.

Proposed amendments to the city zoning ordinance have been referred by the council to the planning commission for study.

AIR TOURISTS SPEND MORE IN CALIFORNIA

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Tourists coming into California by air spend nearly three times as much per person as those coming into the state by automobile.

This is revealed in a 400-page, year-long study made by the California office of tourism and visitor services and the Economic Development Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce.

The study showed $2.9 billion was spent on tourism in California last year, making it the state's third largest basic interest. Of this total, $2 billion was spent by out-of-state visitors and $900 million by state residents.

Ten million out-of-state tourists arrived by car and spent $855 million, and 4.3 million entered the state by air, spending a total of $1.145 million.

Lot Request

San Anselmo Planning Commission will consider approval of the final map of a three-lot subdivision at Holstein Road and the Alameda Monday at 8 p.m. in the San Anselmo city hall. Also on the agenda is aproposal to change the name of a portion of San Diego Avenue to Alderney Road.

Marinwood Slates Football Fans' Bus Charter

Youngsters who want to attend Sunday's Forty-Niners vs. Rams football game at Kezar Stadium will have a chance to take a chartered bus from the Marinwood Community Center, Recreation Director William A. Gordon announced.

Those interested must check in and make reservations at the Marinwood Community Center by 10 a.m. tomorrow.

The chartered bus will leave the center at 11 a.m. Sunday and return sometime between 5 and 6 p.m. "Nonresidents of Marinwood are also welcome to make reservations," said Gordon.

The recreation director announced that a slim 'n' trim class for adults and a tiny tots recreational program for children aged 3, 4 and 5 are ready to start.

Registration for the tiny tots program will be held on Monday at 1 p.m. for residents and at 2 p.m. for nonresidents.

Mrs. Jan Swanson and Mrs. Barbara Eddy are instructors for the tiny tots program, which includes singing, story telling, games and rhythm band from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m. daily. The only afternoon program for tiny tots is on Thursday from 12:30 to 2:30 p.m.

Sale Of Cherish Inn Impending At Strawberry Shopping Center

Latest news on the Fall restaurant scene is the sale of Cherish Inn at the Strawberry Town and Country Shopping Center.

Since all transactions involving the transfer of a liquor license must be approved by the state Alcoholic Beverage Control board, the sale is not officially completed. But there seems to be a good possibility the delay may not be too long. The new owners could take possession as early as the middle or latter part of next week.

Two couples are principals in the purchase and as they are long experienced in the business they will become working coowners. Take Allan and Margaret Johnstone. Allan, who once attended San Rafael Military Academy, has been in restaurant manager and maitre d' positions in Washington, D. C., New York, Connecticut, Las Vegas, Palm Springs and the Bay Area. Wife Margaret managed the Red Barn 18 years at Westport, Conn. and was also at the Morrison Hotel in Chicago and for a while at the Sir Francis Drake Hotel in San Francisco. They live in San Francisco but may move to Marin later.

Associated with them in the venture are Jim and Ressie Davidson of San Rafael. Jim will be the chef and is well known in Marin as a man with many culinary talents and a Scottish burr in his speech.

The menu will be changed — Jim plans continental fare, with all food preparation to be done in the Cherish Inn kitchen, which actually is quite spacious and well equipped.

The new owners hope to keep many members of the present staff. As to whether the name will be changed, the last time I talked to them the question was still up in the air. There is certainly nothing wrong with Cherish Inn and they might do well to consider retaining it.

THERE'S A NEW MENU at Le Chalet Basque, with several additions that will be appreciated by regular customers and first-timers alike. And it seems that each time I go here there is invariably someone making his initial visit.

New on the carte are the beef tongue with sauce piquante, calf brain and also calf liver. Grenadin of beef with mushrooms and a madeira sauce has been added — also tournedos Perigourdine, with truffles and madeira sauce. An addition to the seafood division is prawns a la provencale.

I notice the wine list has been expanded to include several red wines of Sebastiani and the red, white, sparkling and dessert wines of Weibel. If you simply must sail along in de luxe champagne, Mumm's has been added. Many of the regular diners enjoy the excellent house wine, which Raymond gets from the Cambiaso vineyards in Healdsburg.

New since I was here last is the winsome hostess Carol Arena, who is well liked. And I have already mentioned the new cook and happier men of accordionist Al Stone since his recent marriage.

STARTING MONDAY, the Glad Hand in Sausalito will close down for two months, opening again on Jan. 5.

During this period the building will be moved back 50 feet over the water from its present locahave to be installed. When the Glad Hand opens again you'll find a change in the general arrangement. You'll go through a little parkway before coming to the front door.

All this is due to the widening of the Bridgeway.

If the closedown interferes with your eating pleasure, be not dismayed. You can get the same good food on Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays at the Sand Dollar out at Stinson Beach. Al Engel owns that, too. A little farther to drive, but it should be worth it.

THERE IS A FIFTH anniversary coming up for McKee's in San Rafael. Jim and Jean McKee are celebrating next Monday and Tuesday nights.

Don Caseldine is closing off the regular food service at 2 p.m. those days but he and Herb Holtzman will put on a big buffet for evening visitors. And that reminds me — if I am not mistaken Don was going to add a new chili dish to the daily fare, something to match or surpass the famous Cincinnati recipe for chili.

AL STONE
At Chalet Basque

It's just a suggestion — but this anniversary buffet might be just the time to try it out on customers who have been asking for it.

Aside from the anniversary night, plan to take in McKee's some regular night — a place where even frankfurters and sauerkraut can be a gourmet dish.

PEGGY SANDERS of Sebastopol is the featured artist whose paintings are being shown all this month on the walls of Peacock Gap Country Club.

WORD FROM chef Joe Moyle is that he is now handling the food department at the Oakview Club at Terra Linda Meadows. The club operation has recently been taken over by Hank and Juana Massoli. Only dinners are being served; there may be lunches later. Open only to members.

RESTAURANT MIRABEAU, Ondine's sister dinery at the Kaiser Center in Oakland, opened recently to the public after a full week of special preview dinners for East Bay dignitaries.

Owners are George Gutekunst and Alfred Roblin, partners in Sausalito's Ondine; Gilbert Barthe, former Ondine maitre d'; Andre Mercier, the chef, from Orleans, France, and John Hamilton, formerly of the Trident, Sausalito. Gilbert, Andre and John are in active charge of the operation.

The Mirabeau features gourmet French cuisine and I know Alfred Roblin has been spending a great deal of extra time and effort to make sure it matches the quality at Ondine. It seats 140 in the main dining room overlooking the Kaiser Center roof garden and 60 in the cocktail lounge. There are also additional rooms for private parties.

Luncheons are served from 11:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. and dinners from 5:30 p.m. Mondays through Saturdays.

THE PAINTINGS of Jane Santucci and Donna Salmela have been held over for another month at Rubini's in Fairfax.

MUSICIAN/COMIC Jack Sheldon, his trumpet, quartet and unique jokes are now being featured at the Jazz Workshop in San Francisco through Nov. 12. Appearing with him are Steve Bohanon, organ; Richie Kamuca, tenor sax; and Jerry Granelli, drums. Jazz Workshop, you may recall, was recently purchased by Lou Ganapolar, manager of the Trident in Sausalito.

Sheldon is good as a trumpeter and humorist. He has appeared on a number of television shows, including the Mike Douglas show.

DECOR is attractive now at Corey's in San Rafael. I admire that clown painting that Ernie and Marian Mejia brought back from Mexico.

New is a daily change in lunch specialties: Monday, meat loaf; Tuesday, rooast beef with brown gravy; Wednesday, roast turkey and dressing; Thursday, corned beef and cabbage; Friday, macaroni and cheese. Also served every lunchtime are the filet of sole, breaded veal cutlet and chicken fried steak. Price of $1.35 for these includes soup or salad, potato, vegetable, hot roll and coffee. Steak sandwich is $1.50 and there are a number of other sandwich specials.

Ernie is still talking about bringing in a Wurlitzer organ and playing in the evening. I think he has this pegged now for Thursdays between 6 and 7 p.m.

NOW FEATURED at the Ark in Sausalito Sunday afternoons from 2 to 6 is the Harbinger Complex — a five-piece musical group managed by Al Nugent of Stinson Beach as an extracurricular activity. Meter Maids Also Wear Safety Hats

SALEM, Ore. (UPI)—Atty. Gen. Robert Y. Thornton has ruled that a new law requiring motorcyclists to wear helmets applies also to meter maids.

Meter maids in Oregon cities ride on three-wheel cycles to ticket cars for parking violations.

City Preserves Street's Name

KINSTON, N.C. (UPI)—The Kinston City Council voted to spell the name of one of the town's main streets Heritage (with one "r"). A check by city officials showed it had been spelled that way as far back as it could be traced.

Local historians wanted the name spelled with two "rs," contending it had been named for William Herritage, an early settler.

Lawmakers Hear Two Marijuana Crusaders

a sentence for marijuana possession. "Fundamentally our position is that marijuana should be legal," testified Hinchliffe.

He counted that the first of the ad hoc committee's goals and added, "Commercial exploitation of legalized marijuana should be forbidden. I abhore the idea of commercial exploitation of it. As to the age when it may be used, the laws of California in regard to wine are most informative.

"An individual should be allowed to grow for his own family's use a limited amount. He should be allowed to sell — make a gift of, actually — a small amount. If someone wants to pay you for your garden, he may do it.

"Custom is in favor of the smoker of hemp. We have smoked hemp for 20,000 or 30,000 years. When they made marijuana illegal, they never heard from the reefer smokers. But now we reefer smokers are here," said Hinchliffe, with a jaunty thrust of his beard.

The committee's chairman, W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, complimented Mrs. Brennan for her courage in standing up for her beliefs. Alan Sieroty, a committee member from Beverly Hills, said, "I see no reason for you to be criminally liable. We're going to have to change the laws."

Chairman Biddle said the committee is seeking answers, perhaps in drug abuse education, which may work better than toughening the laws. "We have been increasing the penalties and it hasn't worked. The fact that drug and marijuana use is rapidly, if not explosively expanding, is obvious to everyone.

"We want to know the extent to which drug use actually occurs at various levels of society — who is using it, why, what can be done about it."

Dr. Earnest Dernburg, a psychiatrist at the Haight-Ashbury Free Medical Clinic, said he would not plump for legalized marijuana, but he told the committee, "The penalties for marijuana are highly inappropriate, scientifically and socially. But if I were to come out with a statement that marijuana should be legalized, that would be the end of me as a citizen."

Dr. Dernburg, a dark complexioned young man with an air of swarthy kindliness, gave the committee members a slightly different slant on the Haight-Ashbury youngsters — that made them seem as if they all might be Peter Pans, waiting for Wendy to come home.

"A lot of the Haight-Ashbury kinds have bland, rather neutral lives," he said. "LSD provides alleviation of this dreary situation. The kids are really impoverished, passive. If you give them any kind of an argument, they will leave, split out. These kids are loners who found each other in the Haight-Ashbury."

Mrs. Brennan, who has shy, but shrewd brown eyes, and short, chopped off gray hair, drew smiles from the committee members with several of her quiet, bubbly sallies.

"A good 90 per cent of my people out in Nicasio are Catholics. All kinds of people have come out there in recent years, hippies, with beards. When my children talked about them, I asked them if they had ever seen a picture of Jesus Christ without his beard.

"That's the way I tried to teach them, to see both sides and look at things around them. There is a bar at the entrance to the village, where the parents of the children go. The children play around that area. When they asked me about alcohol, I told them to watch what was going on around that bar."

Mrs. Brennan said she didn't know how the Legislature had stiffened the marijuana penalties six years ago until she hoisted the flag of her own rebellion. She said she never paid for marijuana, it was always given to her.

"I feel sorry for my kids," she said. "They must be torn over this. I said goodbye to them for the weekend, leaving everything truthful and guiltless, and on Saturday night I was a dope fiend." She said she is thinking of writing a book — the relationship between marijuana and open mindedness.

The committee, winding up its two days of hearings at the Board of Education, 170 Fell Street, was to hear today from several law enforcement people, including John Storer, chief of the Bureau of Narcotics Enforcement, and officers of the Los Angeles and San Francisco police departments.

Home Reversal Of Roles Hit By P-TA Chief

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — "The home psychological situation, to use a military cliche, is all fouled up," said Mrs. Irvin E. Hendryson, president of the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Trouble can develop, she said, "when dad assumes the mother's submissive home-fire-tending role," and mom usurps dad's "dominant bread-winning, fiscal-management role."

"All this when psychologists and sociologists cry out for discipline and authority in all children's lives," she added.

Mrs. Hendryson, a grandmother of four from Denver, spoke yesterday at the Maryland PTA convention.

Bids Are Called

Bids for a cathodic protection system will be called for by Corte Madera Sanitation District at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday in the district office. This system would provide sewage mains with protection against electrolysis caused by chemical action, officials said.

'Inferior' Line Of Action Used To Outsmart The Opponent

A thoughtful declarer may see the wheels going around inside your head and make his contract by means of an "inferior" line of play. This happened in today's hand, played in the recent Team Selection Tournament in Atlantic City, N.J.

DIAMOND SLAM

Six diamonds would have been a far better contract than six spades. Send your objections to Lew Mathe, leading Los Angeles expert, and Ron Von der Porten, of San Francisco, but don't quarrel too much with success.

West opened the ace of clubs, Von der Porten ruffed in dummy, and East signaled encouragement with the ten of clubs. Declarer drew a round of trumps with the king, got to his hand with the king of hearts and led the aceof trumps. When East dropped the queen, declarer's sigh of relief made the windows rattle.

Von der Porten continued with three more rounds of trumps, discarding low diamonds from dummy. East discarded a low diamond and two low clubs.

SECOND THOUGHTS

Von der Porten next cashed dummy's top hearts. When West showed out, declarer ruffed the fourth heart with his last trump.

South had planned a diamond finesse as his last chance for the slam, but now had second thoughts.

KING IN EAST

It was clear that East still had the king of clubs (he should have thrown it away), and it seemed that East still had K-x of diamonds. With any other diamond holding East would not have discarded a diamond earlier.

Instead of taking a diamond finesse, therefore, Von der Porten led his low club. East had to win with the king of clubs, and then had to lead diamonds, thus giving declarer a free finesse and his slam contract.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one diamond, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ Q 3
♥ J 10 7 2
♣ K Q 10 7
♦ K 9 5

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid one heart.

Show the major suit (even such a weak K 4-Card holding) first. If partner fails to show any real enthusiasm for hearts, you can later raise diamonds, show the clubs or even try no-trump over a rebid in spades.

Collegians Will Have Major Voice

SALEM, Ore. (UPI) — Students from the state's public colleges and universities are to have their own voice at future meetings of the state Board of Higher Education.

A graduate student, Russell Sadler, has been named as student representative.

ALMANAC

Today is Friday, Nov. 3, the 307th day of 1967 with 58 to follow.

The moon is between its new phase and first quarter. The morning stars are Venus and Jupiter. The evening stars are Mars and Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1173, Congress ordered the continental army demobolized.

In 1917, Americans back home learned of the first World War I deaths of U.S. soldiers, fighting at Nancy, France.

In 1936, Franklin Delano Roosevelt was elected president for his second term.

In 1964, a record 67 million American voters went to the polls and Lyndon B. Johnson was elected by the largest majority in history.

A thought for the day: American novelist Dorothy Canfield Fisher once said—"A mother is not a person to lean on but a person to make leaning unnecessary."

MARIN COLLEGE'S CREEK TO VANISH

Concrete Channel For Flood Control $400,000 Cheaper Than Keeping Stream

By FRANK FARRARA

Marin Junior College District is going to gain flood control at the cost of a creek.

Trustees last night accepted plans for the Corte Madera Flood control project which will run a 33-foot wide concrete channel through the heart of the Kentfield campus.

The college has long been plagued by floods which have disrupted classes, caused extra expenses and hampered campus expansion.

ECONOMY WINS

Dale Fleming, college planning director, reported that an alternate plan that would leave the creek in its natural state through the campus would cost an additional $400,000.

"Short of paying $400,000, there's not much choice," said Trustee Thomas A. Skornia.

The plans by the Army Corps of Engineers require a 50-foot swath through the campus from College Avenue to Laurel Avenue, Fleming reported.

ROAD, FENCES

The 33-foot channel would be flanked on one side by a five-foot gravel walk and on the other by a 12-foot wide gravel service road, he said. "The walk and the road would be separated from the channel by a six-foot high vinyl covered chain link fence."

East of College Avenue the open concrete channel would continue along the existing channel to a location northeast of the baseball field where there will be a stilling basin, a shallow earth channel about 250 feet wide with dikes along the edges.

The alignment through the campus will be south of the existing creek and will permit the retention of a significant portion of the present plantings and trees, Fleming said.

GREEN BELT

The green belt wil lbe on the main campus side of the creek, and there will be virtually no growth on the south side of the creek toward the parking lots, Fleming explained.

Beautification of the channel could include textured and colored concrete, he said.

The alternate proposal, made last Spring by County Planning Director Paul Zucker, called for an underground enclosed diversion channel to carry the main flow of water away from the creek.

This would preserve the natural creek area, but would leave the creek dry for the major part of the year, Fleming said.

TIMETABLE GIVEN

Fleming outlined the schedule for the flood control project. Phase One, from the Bay to Bon Air Bridge, completion, June 1968, Phase Two, Bon Air Bridge to the upstream side of College Avenue including Tamalpais Creek, completion, December, 1969, and Phase Three, College Avenue to Ross Town line, completion, December, 1970.

Completion of phases one and two will provide only nominal improvement of conditions on campus, but the college will receive full protection from flooding upon completion of Phase Three, Fleming said.

FLOOD GATES

He urged studying the possibility of installing flood gates near the mouth of a planned stilling basin.

Such gates would hold back tide waters and permit service vehicles to be dropped into the channel, and thereby eliminate the need for a 12-foot service road along the channel, he contended.

The costs of gates have been estimated at from $40,000 to $80,000, but there would be savings in right-of-way purchases for a service road, Fleming said.

The plans also call for a straight alignment of Tamalpais Creek from College Avenue to the stilling basin. At present the creek meanders across the college-owned lowlands, proposed site of a football field, and joins Corte Madera Creek.

COVERING VOTED

Trustees approved plans to cover Tamalpais Creek along this stretch.

Fleming estimated that the covering of the creek would cost an additional $88,000 which would be covered by payments the college will receive for rights-of-way, easements, severance costs or damage caused by the project.

The amount the college will receive hasn't been determined yet, but "has roughly been estimated at $200,000," Fleming said.

The Corps of Engineers plans to place 30,000 cubic yards of dry fill on college property, but the question of approval by the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission is still not settled, Fleming said.

LAWYERS STUDYING

There is a possibility that the area is outside the jurisdiction of the BCDC, and the Marin County Counsel's office is working on the legal aspects of the question, he reported.

Bridges on campus will be replaced, but if design features are unusual or extensive the college might have to bear the additional costs, he said.

Trustees approved the preparation of plans for the relocation of utilities required by flood control work.

Minor Injuries

A Bolinas woman escaped serious injury yesterday when her Volkswagen bus ran off Terrace Avenue in Bolinas, rolled over several times and came to rest on its top, the California Highway Patrol reported. The woman, Marian S. Hjortsberg, 28, was treated for minor injuries at the West Marin Medical Center in Point Reyes Station.

Two Auto Firms May Be Struck At Same Time

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers' Nov. 8 strike deadline with Chrysler Corp. raises the possibility that two of the industry's "big three" could be shut down at the same time.

Douglas A. Frasher, head of the union's Chrysler department, announced the strike deadline yesterday but said the six days left gives Chrysler and the UAW "more than adequate time" to reach agreement on a new three-year pact to cover the 103,000 UA W Chrysler workers.

Ford Motor Co. clesod since midnight Sept. 6, remained almost at a standstill today as negotiators tried to resolve local disputes at 12 Ford plants—two of them considered critical in any attempt to resume normal operations.

Fulbright Apologizes To New Zealanders

WASHINGTON (AP) —Chairman J. W. Fulbright of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee has apologized to the government of New Zealand for having said its trade with North Vietnam was eight times as large as its assistance to South Vietnam.

The New Zealand embassy has informed him, the Arkansas Democrat told the Senate, that in the two years ending in April 1966 its sole exports to North Vietnam were $60,000 worth of tallow. During the same time it gave more than $2.1 million in assistance to South Vietnam.

Part-Time Pay Boost Delayed By Trustees

Marin Junior College District trustees last night balked at boosting the 1967-68 budget on short notice.

President William K. Ramstad presented a recommendation from the College Cabinet calling for an additional $136,980 in expenditures, including $36,760 for pay boosts for part-time, evening and summer faculty members.

INCOME ESTIMATE

Ramstad also reported that the district's income estimate for the year has been increased $94,401, which would cover the major share of the proposed expenditures.

Trustees, who had expected to be considering only the $1 an hour pay boost for part-time, evening and summer faculty members, agreed they would need time to study the new proposal.

Trustees also indicated they were concerned about reducing the reserve fund to make up the difference between the proposed expenditures and the income increase.

DEFERRED ITEMS

Ramstad said the proposed expenditures included items that were deferred when the budget was prepared and additional personnel including custodian, groundsman and maintenance man, who are needed.

Trustees agreed to have a special session at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Physical Education Complex to review the proposed expenditures.

Trustees also approved submission of a 10-year plan to the State Department of Education, which Ramstad described "as only a working paper" which will be updated annually.

Planning Director Dale Fleming said he would submit a draft of a report made by Management and Economics Research Inc. of Palo Alto, which is completing a development plan for the district.

The 10-year plan generally covers the building program proposed for the Kentfield campus and the development of a second campus at Novato.

NOVATO CAMPUS

MERI has recommended that the Novato campus should be opened in 1972 and have a capacity for 2,500 students, although there wouldn't be that many at the start.

The firm also proposed that there be additional building at the Novato campus after 1978.

The college board also agreed with a suggestion by Chairman Elizabeth M. Deedy that the board invite high school district boards meet with it to discuss common problems.

Trustee Robert E. Oliver was absent.

Students Plan Rah-Rah Doings —Homecoming

College of Marin students will set out to prove next week that sophomoric fun and collegiate rah-rah have not entirely disappeared from campus life.

A packed schedule of silly contests and games has been planned for homecoming week on the campus which precedes a football game Friday night against College of the Redwoods of Eureka.

Going on all week will be a "spirit wheel" contest in which campus clubs will compete in putting miles on a stationary bicycle. A "rent-a-frog" jumping contest has been planned by the Bridge Club for Monday at 12:30 p.m. on the football field, according to Dan Lochmann, chairman of the week's activities.

On Tuesday a water fight using fire hoses will take place in a field behind the gymnasium at noon and following this will be a tug of war in the mud. As a final event of the afternoon, pennies will be thrown into the mud and retrieved by students.

Other events during the week include the Wednesday "sale of coeds whose legs will be the only part of their anatomy displayed to potential buyers, a beer can stacking contest and a "powder puff" football game between girls from Newman Club Marineras.

A queen and "ugly man" will be elected to reign on Friday when a parade through San Rafael, San Anselmo and Kentfield is scheduled for 7 p.m. Preceding this will be a bonfire at 6 p.m.

After the football game at 8 p.m. there will be a dance in the gym with music by the Sopwith Camel.

Smuggle Board For Cigarettes

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A new enforcement unit to combat an anticipated increase in cigarette smuggling has been organized by the state Board of Equalization.

H. F. Freeman, board executive secretary, told a California Taxpayers Association seminar yesterday that the board is reassigning 11 staff members to audit the flow of cigarettes into the state.

They also will make "spot checks" at retail outlets to curb traffic in cigarettes for which the state tax has not been paid.

Synanon Sets Seminar Today

Synanon Foundation will open a three-day seminar to introduce teachers to the Synanon movement and its implications for educational reform at 7 p.m. today at the University of California Extension Center, 55 Laguna Street, San Francisco.

The seminar entitled "Synanon: A New Approach to Education and Human Relations," will continue from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. and 9 to 11 p.m. tomorrow and from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday.

The course will be conducted by Charles E. Dedrich, founder and board chairman; Lewis Yablonsky, sociology professor and author of "Synanon: The Tunnel Back;" Reid Kimball, senior director; Guy Endore, author of "Saga of Synanon," and Daniel Garrett, director of Synanon's San Francisco facility.

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Husband Did Everything Wrong But Now Wants Second Chance

DEAR HELEN:

We married when I was 22, my wife 18. Our children are grown now and I sold the house. When I asked my wife why she hadn't started looking for an apartment, she answered, "Because I'm leaving you."

Not once had she complained, though looking back I realize she had every right. In 26 years of married life, she gave and I took. She raised four kids while I spent my time on business and sports. I had a couple of affairs, which I congratulated myself on for keeping secret. She knew about them. I went hunting and out to games almost every weekend. I drank too much, and, when I was home, I slept it off on the couch. I took her for granted. She was "there." She kept the machinery oiled and running, the kids from bothering me, my shirts ironed. I scarcely remembered how she looked, much less that she had feelings. She was my "housekeeper with bedroom privileges," and I knew she'd go on forever.

These things I see clearly now. Funny how I didn't, all through the years when she quietly chalked them up against me.

Well, she's gone. I saw her last night at a restaurant. Either she has changed or I've been blind. She was with another man.

I know I don't deserve another chance, but what can I do to win her back before the divorce is final? — BLIND AND STUPID

DEAR B AND S:

From here, I'm not sure whether your wife cared deeply — or cared nothing — for you all those years. Quiet ones who don't fight for their husbands may be loving saints — or it's possible they're just too uninterested to make the effort. Perhaps you aren't as much at fault as you think.

There's only one way to find out: Woo your wife as if she is a brand-new girlfriend. Show her how much you care, and how much you've changed.

(And if she comes back, let's hope she becomes human enough to kick you on the shins when you deserve it!) — .

DEAR HELEN:

It seems that whenever I call certain acquaintances, they always have such petty reasons for asking me to call back — like some pet TV program.

I think people should be thankful in this uncaring age that the call is genuine friendship and not one of those nuisance sales pitches.

My calls are not just for idle gossip, and I am not the type who talks for hours. Should I politely play second fiddle to TV, or cross these people off my list? — READER

DEAR READER:

I'd be inclined to put these TV addicts on a "You call me — I won't call you again" basis. . . . And if you're legitimately busy when they ring, ask them to buzz you later.

P.S. My favorite phone-friends are those who start their conversations with, "Do you have a few minutes?" Then, if my dinner is burning or I'm hitting a deadline, I feel free to answer. "May I call you back in an hour?" . . . But I'd never employ the put-off for a mere TV program. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

Would your always-responsive readers please send cards to a little six-year-old who is in a body cast and can't run around and play? He'll be going in the hospital again soon for treatment of a disease that affects his joints. He is: Gary Lee Belt, 504 Darlington Ave., Greenville, S.C., 29609, and his birthday is December 26. Thank you. — C.A.B.

DEAR HELEN:

Please thank the fine people, your readers, who sent cards and letters to my cousin, Alice Scherf. Went to see her yesterday and she showed me a box of over 1,000 letters and cards, some from as far away as Vietnam.

I know now that, in spite of fighting, there's still a lot of love in this world. There must be when so many people would take the time to esnd cheer to someone they don't even know. — VANESSA

Ending the showing of Italian spring and summer ready-to-wear styles in Florence, designers displayed knitwear and non-knit dresses with demure, proper lines. CLEAN-UP AFTER WATTS

Nowadays Girl Scouts Really With It

By GAY PAULEY

Her world is much more than cookies and camping and crafts. She's "with it," she's keenly aware of the myriad of social and economic problems facing her community and her world. And she cares deeply about other people and what she can do for them.

The new label for the three million girls seven to 17 years of age is pinned on by none other than Mrs. Holton R. Price Jr., the national president of the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

"IT'S A MYTH that scouts are square," said Mrs. Price, "and I'm a great myth dispeller. We don't intend to change the image of scouting as a builder of character. But we do want people to know that today's scout is more deeply involved with problems around her than she was even 10 years ago. I've never seen such a desire for service.

"Today's girls know so much . . . read so much. Young people are more aware of the have-nots and intend to do something about it."

Mrs. Price, during a business trip to New York, told of just one way today's scouts are "involved."

AT THE TIME of the Watts riot in Los Angeles," she said, "there were several Girl Scout troops in the area. During the riots, the girls stayed with sister scouts outside Watts. When it was over, they all went back, helping to clean up, taking care of babies, and doing all the things that had to be done. Now this is a real example of breaking down walls between people."

Mrs. Price told of sitting in with a senior group in St. Louis to find what actually was on the girls' minds. Among issues disturbing them were dating, morals and sex, diversity of religions (brought on in part by the "God is dead" discussion), their relations with adults, "the generation gap" and civil rights.

Once the girls spelled out the things disturbing them, leaders lined up authorities in the fields to lead discussion groups.

The Girl Scout slogan, "Do a good turn daily" has not changed since the organization was founded in Savannah, Ga., March 12, 1912, by Juliette Gordon Low. But its image has had to alter with the times, Mrs. Price said. "We need to break down more walls to get into areas we haven't traditionally served."

Drug To Aid Baby Teeth—

SCIENCE SERVICE

WASHINGTON — "Baby" teeth are more likely to decay than the permanent teeth because their enamel is only about half as thick. This means that the vulnerable pulp inside the tooth is closer to the surface, and decay can penetrate quickly.

A drug to both kill the decay-causing bacteria and strengthen the pulp tissue itself was suggested here by Dr. Thompson M. Lewis of the University of Washington dental school in Seattle. Speaking at the meeting of the American Dental Association, Dr. Lewis suggested use of formocresol, a combination of formaldehyde and tricresol in glycerine.

Formocresol has been used for many years as a disinfectant for adult root canals. It heals because it has a protein-binding effect in addition to being a strong bactericide.

FEATURED THIS SATURDAY

The Independent-Journal's Marin Magazine continues its popular "Profile of a Marinite" series tomorrow with the story of George Paul Jones, manager of the Marin County Mosquito Abatement District, as written by I-J reporter Frank Farrara. It is not only a report on Jones, a native son of Marin, but also a report on the important work being performed by the public district that he directs in an endless war against insect pests.

The school library isn't what it used to be—not in the Tamalpais Union High School District, anyway. Today it is an access and distribution points for many kinds of educational media in addition to the still essential books. Tomorrow's issue of the I-J's weekend supplement reports on this new concept of the school library, and how it is functioning to enrich the learning process in the Tam District schools.

MARIN FILM FARE

'A Man For All Seasons' Gives Rich Life To A Stage Classic

By LES DARD

Marin screens offer an exciting array of new movies this weekend.

NORTHGATE THEATER

At last "A Man for All Seasons," a truly distinguished film that rates superlatives in every classification.

The 6th Century England of Sir Thomas More comes to life in one matchless scene after another, with camera work rich in mood, variety and pictorial beauty.

The film adheres closely to Robert Bolt's play. Scenes do not bog down in dialogue or introspection. There is interesting movement and a remarkable rendering of ancient England.

The drama hinges on the attempt by Henry VIII to divorce his queen. Unable to secure the consent of the Pope, he breaks with Rome and establishes the Church of England, which sanctions his marriage to Anne Boleyn.

Sir Thomas, Henry's chancellor, cannot give approval for the king's actions, and resigns. He will not compromise his beliefs, despite appeals from the king and his dearest friends. He is imprisoned and, ultimately, executed.

Paul Scofield as Sir Thomas is extraordinary, playing the almost-saintly man with nobility and restraint. Robers Shaw makes a fascinating King Henry, and an outstanding supporting cast rounds out this motion picture.

NOVATO THERATER

Omar Sharif plays Zhivago, the enigmatic poet-doctor, and Julie Christie is Lara, his love. Geraldine Chaplin, Rod Steiger, Alec Guiness and Rita Tushingham have lead roles.

RAFAEL THEATER

"Bonnie and Clyde" is an extraordinary crime adventure based on the Depression era rampage of the Barrow Gang and the unusual romance between Clyde Barrow and Bonnie Parker.

Their roles are played by Warren Beatty and Faye Dunaway.

The film follows the notorious couple from a meeting in 1931 in a Midlothian, Tex., restaurant through three years of bank robbing and killing that commanded headlines nationwide.

Bonnie shares with Clyde the excitement of lawbreaking, a love of publicity, the symbolic attraction of guns and delight in the chases in which they elude pursuers. But unlike him, she wearies of the game — and comes to see that the only end will be their early deaths.

Best leave the children home.

MOTOR MOVIES

The story of a simple man caught up in dehumanizing events in World War II is poignantly told in "The 25th Hour."

Anthony Quinn stars as a simple Romanian farmer falsely declared a Jew by the local police chief — who covets his blond wife, Virna Lisi. The bewildered man is sent to a slave labor camp, beginning an eight-year odyssey of hardship.

SEQUOIA THEATER

"The Endless Summer" is the best look yet at the sport of surfing. It is the work of Bruce Brown, a San Franciscan who moved south and became a surfing expert.

The picture tells of two surfers seeking the perfect wave, in Africa, Australia, New Zealand and Hawaii.

TIBURON PLAYHOUSE

"Two for the Road" stars Audrey Hepburn and Albert Finney in a comedy-romance about two people who meet hitchhiking across France, fall in love and are married.

"Caprice" features Doris Day and Richard Harris in a slick tale about a ring of industrial spies.

FAIRFAX THEATER

"The Taming of the Shrew" is still taming Fairfax audiences with its lusty brand of Shakespeare.

Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton recreate the Bard's wild comedy about an Italian family whose fair daughter must wait to wed until her older sister, a notorious vixen, can capture a husband.

TAMALPAIS THEATER

Held over is "The Sand Pebbles," a long, vigorous and fascinating film and a must for every serious moviegoer.

Steve McQueen covers himself with new laurels as the engineer aboard an American gunboat caught in China waters. Richard Crenna plays his skipper.

LARK THEATER

Also held over is "King of Hearts," an anti-war film combining comedy, melodrama, fantasy and satire.

Alan Bates plays a World War I Scottish soldier assigned to neutralize explosives left by Germans. In the process he gets himself elected king by a group of freed inmates of an insane asylum. The fun is infectious.

101 DRIVE-IN

James Garner, Jason Robards Jr. and Robert Ryan star in "Hour of the Gun," a Western that takes off where many have begun — with the gunfight at OK Corral.

Garner plays Earp, determined to avenge his slain brothers and put to rest killer Ike Clanton (Ryan) — always with the help of his dentist-turned-gunfighter Doc Holliday (Robards).

Local Composers Offered Playings

The San Francisco Conservatory Artists Ensemble is launching a program for the reading and performance of new music by composers from the Bay area and its immediate environs.

The conservatory offers this program in hope of developing a greater interest in new music in the Bay Area, as well as providing greater opportunity for composers of this region to have their works performed.

Interested composers may contact Owen James, San Francisco Conservatory of Music, 1201 Ortego Street, San Francisco 94122.

Mojo Men To Rock In Fairfax Tomorrow

The Mojo Men, a rock 'n' roll group which includes one woman, will play at a dance from 8:30 p.m. to 12:30 a.m. tomorrow at the Fairfax Pavilion.

The dance is the first of a series of Saturday rock dances scheduled at the pavilion.

Chinese music is perhaps the oldest in the world of which written records exist, says Collier's Encyclopedia.

Veterans Council Opposes Viet Vote

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—The Veterans Political Council is urging a No vote on Proposition P the San Francisco baliot measure calling for an end to the Vietnam war.

"We will not abandon our comrades in favor of that seditious segment of our society which has been seen by the world calling our President a liar and our country the greatest murderer in history," the council said in a statement Thursday.

SERVING ALL OF MARIN COUNTY

THIRD SECTION SAN RAFAEL, CALIFORNIA, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1967 21

MAN AGAINST A DEADLY ENEMY

San Rafael fireman Mike Weddell stands determined against a creeping, wood-consuming fire which spread rapidly among trees and grass on Highland Avenue yesterday. Fire fighters said a cigarette may have caused the blaze, the second in the area in two days. In no time, a sylvan glade was reduced to ashes and blackened hulk of trees—a big price to pay for a carelessly flipped cigarette stub.

Kettenhofen To Counterattack Span Decision

Supervisor Ernest N. Kettenhofen, still smarting from the Marin County Transit District's 4-2 vote against second-decking the Golden Gate Bridge, plans to counterattack next Tuesday at the Marin County Board of Supervisors' meeting.

He will introduce a resolution, asking the supervisors to reaffirm their support of a modern public bus system and giving conditional support to a second deck on the gate span.

Kettenhofen's resolution proposes that a second deck be supported only at such future time as two conditions are met — a modern mass transportation system is financed and in operation, and a balanced transportation study, which includes assessment of the effects of the modern mass transportation system, proves the need for a second deck.

Kettenhofen will ask the supervisors to express full confidence in Marin's two directors on the bridge board, Thomas D. Hardcastle and George H. Ludy, and to "reaffirm the long standing policy of the County of Marin that all transportation alternatives require a modern public bus system, that first priority must be given to formulation of such a system, and that the bridge district funds are required for major support of such a system."

On Wednesday night, Marin County Transit District directors voted 4-2, calling for a halt of the second deck study and for immediate study of ferryboat service. Kettenhofen and Supervisor William A. Gnoss were on the losing end of that vote. The majority included supervisors Thomas T. Storer and Peter H. Behr.

On Tuesday, Kettenhofen hopes to get the supervisors to counter the vote transit district board of which all five supervisors are members.

Storer has said he would be unable to attend the Tuesday meeting, which leaves Kettenhofen, Behr, Gnoss and John F. McInnis.

If Kettenhofen and Gnoss can win McInnis's backing, it would mean a 3-1 vote with Behr on the losing end.

Inaugural Sunday For New Pastor

Bishop William J. McDonald, auxiliary to Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken of San Francisco, will be installed as pastor of St. Anselm's Catholic Church, San Anselmo, at 4:30 p.m. Sunday.

Bishop McDonald will succeed Msgr. John McGarr, who resigned in September after serving as chief pastor for 37 years. He now holds the title of pastor emeritus of the church, located at Shady Lane and Bolinas Avenue.

The new pastor was appointed to the archdiocese position in July. A former San Franciscan, Bishop McDonald has served two terms as president of Catholic University of America in Washington D.C. He was elevated to a bishop in 1964.

Father McGarr, 82, observed his 55th year as a priest last July. Ill health forced him to submit his resignation to Bishop McGucken.

Lawmen Say Trio Not Tied To Superspade

Interrogation of the alleged assailants of a San Francisco former heroin peddler has failed to connect them with the slaying last August of William E. (Superspade) Thomas.

Undersheriff Sidney Stinson said Inspector Kenneth Irving talked again yesterday with three persons held by San Francisco police for questioning in the shooting of the ex-peddler, Russell Otis Williams, 26.

He said they have not been connected with the Superspade murder, however. The trio, Charles Schimmelfennig, 18, Daniel Marzec, 24, and Carolyn Shult, 22, was arrested in a San Francisco narcotics raid Saturday.

Police said Williams, shot twice and left to die in a Sonoma County wooded area, picked the three as his assailants from police photos. He is in critical condition at Sonoma County Hospital.

Marin officers have talked with him, but Stinson said they are awaiting an improvement in his condition to talk again with him. He said Williams said his own assailants mentioned the Superspade murder before shooting Williams.

Superspade's body was found trussed in a sleeping bag and abandoned at Point Reyes Aug. 6.

Novato High Homecoming Events Open

This is homecoming weekend at Novato High School with the queen election scheduled today and many events for tomorrow.

A homecoming queen was to be elected by the student body this morning from candidates picked from senior girls by the varsity football squad, but the winner will not be known until half time at the football game tomorrow. She will be crowned by Hank Hicks, student body president, and that game's offensive and defense captains of the football team.

Queen candidates are Trucy Berger, Linda Skinner, Mary Jo White, Sherry Vanderbroek, Judy Purdy, Linda Schlosser and Bonnie Wilson.

The homecoming parade will start at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow from Seventh Street and Grant Avenue to Novato Boulevard, South Novato Boulevard and Arthur Street to the high school.

In addition to cars bearing the queen candidates, there will be class and club floats, the Air Force Reserve Officer's Training Corps drill team, pep band, cheerleaders, pom pon girls and decorated cars in the parade.

The homecoming football game will be against Terra Linda High School at 2 p.m. at the school football field.

The queen will reign over the coronation ball tomorrow night from 8 to 11:30 p.m. in the old gymnasium at the school.

Anti-Smoking Film's Premier Finally Held

The projector worked last night, so Marin Medical Society members got "Warning from Outer Space."

That's the title of a 10-minute color movie produced by the society to warn children against the dangers of smoking. It was scheduled for its world permiere at the society's October monthly meeting at the Meadow Club; but the projector wouldn't work so the showing had to be rescheduled.

At last night's meeting, the society took no chances. It had two projectors on hand, with a professional projectionist. There was no problem.

The movie, produced and narrated by David Parker, has people from another planet landing on earth and capturing residents to warn them that smoking cigarettes nearly destroyed the civilization of their own planet. They don't want earth people to fall victim to the same danger.

Some of the society's doctor-members play roles as both spacemen and earth people. The project was part of the society's anti-smoking education program headed by Dr. Gerald E. Hill of San Rafael.

Besides seeing their own film —which actually got its premiere Oct. 10 in San Francisco after the failure at the Oct. 5 meeting—the doctors saw "LSD 25," a film produced by the San Mateo Unified School District, and heard a talk by Dr. Stanford Feinglass, who heads the narcotics education program of the Marin County superintendent of schools office.

The nominating committee's slate of officers was elected to serve in 1968, although there were some write-in votes for other candidates. Those selected are:

Dr. Austin W. Lea of Kentfield, president-elect; Dr. Marjorie E. Belknap of Corte Madera, secretary-treasurer; Dr. Arthur R. Ablin of San Rafael, California Medical Association delegate; Dr. Albert E. White of Mill Valley, CMA alternate, and Doctors Hill and Leo A. Wagner of Novato, directors. Dr. John McGee of Ross will step up to presidency Jan. 1.

Tiburon Walking Trails Plan Gets Commission Nod

A plan for walking trails — including a scenic route along the crest of Tiburon Ridge — was endorsed last night by city park and recreation commissioners.

Commissioners said the ridge trail could tie in with a trail system proposed by the county. Other trails for suggested for Lyford Cove and Old Tiburon.

The plan, submitted by Commissioner George McKegney, said the Northwestern Pacific Railroad right of way should be considered for a walkway, bicycle path or a rail-bus system for school children and visitors.

Discussion of a summer civic celebration, proposed for July 4 or Aug. 5, the anniversary of the arrival in Marin waters of Spanish explorer Juan Manuel De Ayala, was postponed until Nov. 16.

Drunken Driving

Leonard Francis D'Artenay, 51, of 109 Marina Boulevard, San Rafael, was fined $174 and placed on six months probation yesterday in Marin Municipal Court for drunken driving. California Highway Patrol arrested him Aug. 20 on Francisco Boulevard.

Father On Probation For School Slapping

Basil W. Sakellaris, 39, was placed on six months probation in Marin Municipal Court today for striking a 12-year-old Santa Venetia School pupil and for disturbing the peace.

But Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. also noted that the school was partially responsible for the incident. He told Sakellaris there is no question that "your boy was being bullied" by the victim, Robert Jeffrey Caveney of 16 Drakes Cove, San Rafael, prior to the assault.

He said school authorities were aware of the problem and should have done something to prevent the action.

Sakellaris, of 89 Golden Hinde Boulevard, San Rafael, pleaded no-contest Sept. 27 to the assault and to disturbing the peace. Jeffrey's teacher, Marjorie C. Mohrer, 30, of Point Reyes Station, told officers Sakellaris came into her classroom Sept. 22 and asked to see Jeffrey.

When the boy arose, Sakellaris grabbed him and slapped him four times across the face, she said.

Sakellaris told Jeffrey he had "sent my boy home emotionally disturbed," and added something about a fight between Jeffrey and his son, George. Mrs. Mohrer said. She said Sakellaris told Jeffrey, "I'm going to kill you," then left.

Jeffrey's mother, Mrs. Patricia Caveney, has filed a $25,100 claim against San Rafael City Schools charging negligence in the incident. The San Rafael Board of Education denied the claim Oct. 24 and referred it to the school's insurance carrier.

Mrs. Caveney also has filed a $100,000 damage suit in Marin Superior Court against Sakellaris on behalf of her son. Sakellaris, who came to the United States from Greece, said he is a Sausalito restaurant captain.

Sewage Report Due Two Airings

A 192-page sewage study report for Marin County, prepared by Brown and Caldwell of San Francisco, will get two public exposures this month before the Marin County Board of Supervisors.

Officials of Brown and Caldwell, consulting engineers, will make the first presentation at 2:30 p.m. Nov. 14 during the regular meeting of the Marin supervisors.

The second presentation will be made at 8 p.m. on Nov. 20 in the supervisors' chambers at the Civic Center.

Bel Marin Keys Yachtsmen Elect

Anthony L. Ricci was elected commodore of the Bel Marin Keys Yacht Club at its monthly meeting last night in the pavillion.

He headed the slate of officers picked last month by the nominating committee and there was no opposition to them, said Joan Wrightsman, publicity chairman.

Others elected were: A. H. Allen, vice commodore; Stuart Valentine, rear commodore; Allen B. Hutchins, secretary, and Richard Roberts, treasurer.

Fleet captains elected were: William Harkness, sail; Wayne Tombaugh, power; Carl Wandt, small boats; A. M. Oppedal, port captain and Jack Sarin, director.

The officers will be installed at a dinner in December, the time and place to be set, Mrs. Wrightsman said.

Novato's New High School Building Start Speeded Up

Work on the new $1,651,453 San Marin High School will start on Nov. 13, with completion set for school opening next Fall, Asst. Supt. Eugene de Brecht announced today.

The school's architect, Richard Banwell and the successful bidder, Royce Hall Co. of Napa, today set that date for constructin to begin, De Brecht said.

Hall was awarded the contract Monday night by the Novato Unified School District Board after the low bidder, E. C. Anderson Inc. of San Francisco withdrew. Hall's bid came within the state allotment for the base building, but several of his alternate bids were higher than the state allotment.

Supt. James G. Bunker and Banwell worked out details on the alternates with the staff of the State Office of Local Assistance in Sacramento on Wednesday.

"We have the staff's verbal approval, although the formal written approval may not come until the December meeting of the State Allocations Board," De Brecht said.

The staff approved all of the higher bids except for the general site bid which will have to be lowered from the $177,000 bid by Hall to the $134,723 allowed by the state, De Brecht said.

"In talking to Hall yesterday, he agreed to this," De Brecht said. That cleared the way for approval of all the alternate bids.

"The construction time is 10 months, so we are hoping to have it ready for opening next fall," he said.

Flier Recovering After B52 Crash

A Marin County flier was reported recovering today in Griffiss Air Force Base hospital, Rome, N.Y., after parachuting from a B52 jet bomber which crashed yesterday in a wooded area near the base.

Air Force First Lt. Sidney W. Glover, 25, a son of retired Army Col. and Mrs. Wellington Glover of 1010 Idylberry Road, Lucas Valley, suffered a broken leg.

Six crewmen were killed in the crash.

WITH SGT. MIKE By Hodgson

"I always wondered what they did with the ones that couldn't cut it in cooking school."

Driver Suffers Minor Injuries In Base Wreck

One man received minor injuries in an accident between a car and a U. S. Government truck on the access road by the commissary at 3 p.m. yesterday at Hamilton Air Force Base.

S/Sgt. Ray F. Burden of Petaluma was treated at the Hamilton hospital for cuts and bruises on his left hand and knee, according to base officials.

He was westbound on the access road when his car collided with a government truck which was backing out onto the street, according to base officials. Joseph Hukeveh of 35 Fairfax Street, San Rafael, a civilian employee of the base, was driver of the truck.

Burden's car veered across the eastbound lane on traffic and hit three parked cars, owners unknown, according to base officials.

Auditorium Inadequate —But It's A Start

The "economy model" Veterans Memorial Auditorium voted this week by the Marin County Board of Supervisors will be largely a duplication of facilities just completed (also with taxpayers' money) at College of Marin. However, it may be the start on the big auditorium so long sorely needed in the county.

The supervisors ordered redesign, to reduce the cost, of the memorial auditorium at the Civic Center, which had been planned for 1,960 seating capacity. The structure authorized will have seats for only 786 — just 182 more than the auditorium of the new Fine Arts Building at the college, which has just opened.

HOWEVER, the "economy model" building will include a flat floor behind a movable wall on which additional portable seats could be placed to bring the capacity to 1,960. This floor is designed to be used for exhibitions — and eventually to provide seating also for the auditorium.

"Phase two" construction would include the equipment for mechanically moving the wall, and the portable seats, along with landscaping and various other items the supervisors ordered cut to bring the initial cost down.

At that, the cost for "phase one" is expected to run well over two million dollars — and it will not give Marin the needed auditorium capacity.

THERE HAVE BEEN so many delays on the Veterans Memorial Auditorium that the supervisors are due commendation for their efforts to get it started, but further efforts will be necessary to make it serve its intended purpose.

Shortly after World War II, the Legislature earmarked a portion of pari-mutuel horse racing funds for counties or cities that would use it to build veterans' memorial buildings.

Quite a few jurisdictions put up such buildings, augmenting the state funds with local bond issues. Marin County's supervisors decided it would be better to accumulate the money until a large auditorium could be built. They got state permission to do this, and until last year, levied a special tax each year to augment the state money.

Nearly nine years ago — on Dec. 3, 1958 — they set a timetable for the project which called for its completion by July, 1963.

A LOT OF THINGS happened to mess up the timetable. Money from the fund was borrowed for assorted other uses (including temporary fund shortages for building the Civic Center).

Finally, in 1964, the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation got the go-head to prepare plans. As presented in February, 1965, these called for a 1,960-seat auditorium. However, architect Aaron Green told the board that this seating capacity was "not economically sound" for attracting major productions. He suggested 3,000 seats.

A proposal to add a mezzanine providing the additional seating was dropped when it appeared the county would not be able to finance it. Then the bids for the 1,960-seat auditorium came in far over the $2,163,200 estimate. So now the board has decided to start with 786 seats.

THAT'S A CONSIDERABLE comedown. But at least it's a start

Incidentally, Marin Junior College District seems to have got a better bargain than the "economy model" auditorium authorized by the supervisors. For $2 million, the college district got a Fine Arts Building, designed by architects Falk and Booth, which includes the auditorium, 17 classrooms, a studio theater seating 100, a rehearsal hall for 114, an instrumental music hall for 100, a dozen practice rooms, costume laboratory, speech laboratory, scene shop, hydraulic orchestra pit, 10 offices, and a faculty workroom.

With a Devil's Tail

A Genuine Public Servant Passes

San Anselmo — and Marin County — have lost a really dedicated public servant with the death of Nello Marcucci, for whom Requiem Mass was offered today.

In his many years as fire chief, public works superintendent and building inspector of San Anselmo, Nello Marcucci handled all three jobs with unostentatious efficiency. Under him, the San Anselmo Fire Department attained for its city one of the lowest fire insurance ratings in the state, thereby saving property owners many dollars. Chronic lack of funds hampered street work, but city crews were always on the job, patching pavements, keeping the streets usable.

The chief put on no airs. He was "Nello" to half the people in San Anselmo — a friend as well as a public servant. In retirement, he continued active interest in civil defense and fire protection.

His two sons are both firemen, following in their father's footsteps. He gave them a noble model to emulate.

Highway Patrol Slaps Collier

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — It's not been often in the past 10 or 15 years that any top official in the Division of Highways or the California Highway Patrol has found the occasion to disagree publicly with Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka.

Collier, first elected to the Senate in 1938, has been there longer than any other member and his total time in the Legislature is exceeded by only one member. As chairman of the powerful transportation committee, Collier has guided through most highway legislation in recent years, as well as bills upgrading the status and the numbers of the highway patrol.

In a recent speech before the patrol's traffic safety conference, Collier objected to the use of CHP officers in putting down the disorder at the Oakland Army Induction Center. He said the patrol should be concerned only with traffic matters.

GORDON C. LUCE, administrator of the Business and Transportation Agency (which includes the CHP), was quick to issue a public statement that he did not agree with Collier.

"I firmly believe that CHP involvement in this particular incident was necessary, proper and completely lawful," Luce said in a letter to Harold Sullivan, CHP commissioner.

"I disagree with Senator Collier on this point," he went on. "Any modification of the statutes that would restrict the patrol's authority to insure the safety of the motoring public wherever or whenever necessary, or that would restrict the immediate availability to local agencies of the patrol's highly trained law enforcement personnel in emergency situations, should be resisted."

LUCE SAID the "unruly mob at the induction center formed itself in such a way to completely block and impede vehicular traffic, both private automobiles and public transit vehicles." He said the public is entitled to the full, unobstructed and safe use of those thoroughfares and the patrol has the duty to protect and enhance the motorists' safe use of streets and highways.

He cited an executive order signed by Gov. Ronald Reagan, as well as provisions in the State Vehicle Code and the Military and Veterans Code which give the CHP full peace officer power and duties in emergencies.

"It should be the continued policy of the California Highway Patrol and the commissioner to respond upon request of local authorities in assisting in emergencies that are beyond the control of local law enforcement agencies and when the local forces have been committed," Luce wrote.

"I am certain that the majority of our citizens would agree with this approach," he concluded.

Luce's letter leaves no doubt as to the position of the administration concerning use of the highway patrol in such situations, Senator Collier's views notwithstanding.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Information Fairfax: Where, What It Is

Editor, Independent-Journal:

At the Oct. 24 public hearing on the land-use portion of the general plan for Fairfax, Mr. Leo Cronin, chairman of the Fairfax Planning Commission, in discussing future population growth said, "Perhaps, it would be good to have some birth control information at Information Fairfax."

Since there have been some indignant inquiries in this regard, perhaps, it would be well to clarify the purpose of "IF" — Information Fairfax — located at 1912 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard.

"IF" is a center for displaying official reports, maps and other material pertinent to the general plan for the Fairfax area which are presently being prepared by the County planning department at a cost of $24,000.

The county planning department and the Fairfax city officials are earnestly studying and working out a program for planned development, which they feel is for the good of the residents on the Fairfax area.

However, Information Fairfax has had no official word that planned parenthood is a part of this program, and does not have a display of any kind along these lines.

Incidentally, Information Fairfax will be open only through Saturday, Nov. 11.

Storer Disapproves 'Dictator Tactics'

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I wish to state unequivocally that I in no way support Supervisor Kettenhofen's high-handed attitude toward the Marin County Planning Commission.

I agree with the substance of your editorial completely; that is, if the board of supervisors is going to tell an advisory commission what to do, then who needs the advisory commission? We do need advisory commissions, and in this instance it is pursuant to state law, which makes "dictator tactics" all the more unconscionable.

Save Starving Rats And Integrate Insects

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Mr. Richard Bachmann's daring suggestion (10/28) that a new department of nine rat picker-uppers be appointed is a small step in the right direction to relieve the considerable unemployment in our Great Society. Many of these unfortunate creatures (the rodents, I mean) could be nursed back to robust health and productivity and relocated in the sparcely settled limbo regions of North Marin.

But this is a narrow minded discriminatory approach to a Southern Marin problem. Why such cruel neglect of our yellow jacket and termite families? Surely it is possible to trap these loveable beasties and generously donate them to another communiity — ANY community.

My own nagging problem is predator spiders and their poor little innocent victims: flies, gnats, mosquitos and moths. Countless times I have been tempted to phone the Council of Churches, Humane Society, Family Rehabilitation Complex or our embattled fire departments for aid.

After all, yellow jackets and termites are social insects and domestic families. Countless tons of wheat and other foreign aid goes to Mother India where huge portions indirectly feed enormous herds of sacred cows, sacred apes and other forms of "sacred" ife — all the way up to inviolate fleas. A Brave New World is Happening. Perhaps the social yellow jackets and social termites can one day be integrated — like the lion and the lamb in the fable?

Voters League Seeks No Lavish Center

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The Wednesday, October 25 edition of the Independent-Journal credited the Sausalito Voters League with urging a Civic Center for the City of Sausalito.

Actually the Voters League, in a letter to the Sausalito City Council, simply urged an impartial analysis of the city's collective building needs as most of its facilities are outmoded and inadequate in size. Furthermore, the Voters League intentionally avoided the term "civic center" due to its possible interpretation as being a complex of grand or elaborate structures.

Marin Should Tunnel Its Way Into BART

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Your editorial this evening (Oct. 28), "BART's Efficiancy May Affect Marin," made the system sound so good I hope you can talk our county into tunneling to join it. I have nothing to do with BART but thank you for printing praise for someone doing a good job on a big problem. It is far better reading than the gripes and accusations perpetually voiced by the alleged "Voice of the West."

New World Network To Detect Quakes

By ROBERT S. ALLEN and PAUL SCOTT

The U.S., through its Coast and Geodetic Survey, is constructing a world-wide earthquake recording network that for the first time makes possible instant standard seismograph reporting around the world.

The system will be in operation when one of the last three installations, being built in South Africa is completed in the next few weeks.

When these stations are operational, the network will consist of 166 stations on every continent and on many islands throughout the world. Only Red China and the Soviet Union and their satellites are not participating in this venture in international scientific cooperation.

While that leaves a considerable land mass of Eurasia outside this international network, the globe is nonetheless strategically covered.

For example, 16 stations are in Europe, 16 in Latin America, 14 through the Middle East, 15 in the Far West, 6 in Australia and New Zealand, 3 in the Antarctic, 10 in the Arctic, and the rest in North America — mostly in the U.S.

Arrangements call for submission of all seismic records collected to a central office, the National Geophysical Data Center of the Department of Commerce's Environmental Science Services Administration, in Asheville, N.C.

THE GLOBAL NATURE of this network and the similarity of the seismographs makes possible for the first time an almost instant history of earthquakes wherever they may be.

It also will make it tougher for any nation to set off an underground nuclear explosion without being detected.

The network is not directly involved in the complex problem of trying to forecast earthquakes. However, its data may be extremely useful to researchers who are trying to develop methods of anticipating earthquakes.

Since the 1964 earthquake in Alaska, the White House Office of Science and Technology has been experimenting with the usefulness of locating special instruments all along major earthquake stress lines, such as the San Andreas Fault.

PREDICTIONS — The Senate Ethics Committee will not produce a code of conduct this year. The committee's staff has submitted drafts of various provisions, but the nine committeemen are too busy with other legislative work to have time to give serious consideration to the formulation of a code. Privately they are saying the best that can now be hoped for is one by next spring. The propects for such a code in the House are even dimmer. There it's doubtful if one will be forthcoming during the two-year duration of this Congress . . . Several other Democratic congressmen will follow the example of Rep. Morris Udall, D-Ariz., brother of Interior Secretary Stewart Udall, and break with the White House on support of its Vietnam war policy. Before Udall announced his split, he had assurances from a score of Democratic colleagues that they would follow suit . . . Between now and the end of the year, the Treasury will raise about $15 billion through new borrowings — at record-high interest rates . . . President Kennedy's desk, originally a gift from Queen Victoria to President Rutherford B. Hayes, will be put on exhibition at the Smithsonian Institution around Thanksgiving. This desk is familiar to many millions throughout the world because of photographs of his young son "John-John" hiding under it.

Is Violence On Increase?

(Reprinted from Wall Street Journal)

He made the comment in 1910, before World War I, World War II, Korea, Vietnam, nuclear weapons and all the assorted violences of the present day. The eminent psychologist, who thought it was possible to eliminate war, would have been deeply discouraged were he living now. Ours seems to be a century of unprecedented fury, and some people think we are headed toward the ultimate violence of World War III.

YET, IS IT IN FACT worse than the past, or does it only appear so because modern communications make people instantly aware of all the terrible things going on everywhere?

While the question probably can't be answered categorically, every age of man's existence on earth reveals its numerous terrors. To quote James again (despite his pacifism, he did not blink at the warlike nature of man):

"Greek history is a panorama of jingoism and imperialism — war for war's sake, all the citizens being warriors. It is horrible reading, because of the irrationality of it all . . .

"The cruelty of those times is incredible. When Rome finally conquered Greece, Paulus Emilius was told by the Roman Senate to reward his soldiers for their toil by 'giving' them the old kingdom of Epirus. They sacked 70 cities and carried off 150,000 inhabitants as slaves. How many they killed I know not; but in Etolia they killed all the senators, 550 in number . . . Such was the gory nurse that trained societies to cohesiveness."

IF A POTENTIAL for violence, then, is profoundly rooted in man, can anything be done about it? The unhappy fact is that no one has ever been able to figure out a way. . . .

Still, it is hard to escape the feeling that violence is on the rise today, at any rate as compared with the patches of peace and order even in this century. Among nations and within nations people seem little disposed to listen to reason and practice restraint. Indeed, unrestraint, individual irresponsibility is becoming a kind of latter-day tenet in too many quarters. Is it fanciful to suppose that this mood of unrestraint subtly influenced the government to take disproportionate measures in Vietnam?

This much can be said: Mankind may never be able to extirpate or completely control its aggressive drive, but it is high time to think of moderating it by returning to the standards of responsible behavior, of law and order, that once prevailed in America at least.

Saved From Flying Saucers! Venusians Can't Breathe The Smog

WASHINGTON — There was great excitement on the planet of Venus this week. For the first time Venusian scientists managed to land a satellite on the planet Earth, and it has been sending back signals as well as photographs ever since.

The satellite was directed into an area known as Manhattan (named after the great Venusian astronomer, Professor Manhattan, who first discovered it with his telescope 200,000 light years ago).

Because of excellent weather conditions and extremely strong signals, Venusian scientists were able to get valuable information as to the feasibility of a manned flying saucer landing on Earth. A press conference was held at the Venus Institute of Technology.

"WE HAVE COME to the conclusion, based on last week's satellite landing," Professor Zog said, "that there is no life on Earth."

"How do you know this?" the science reporter of the Venus Evening Star asked.

"For one thing Earth's surface in the area of Manhattan is composed of solid concrete and nothing can grow there. For another, the atmosphere is filled with carbon monoxide and other deadly gases and nobody could possibly breathe this air and survive."

"What does this mean as far as out flying saucer program is concerned?"

"We shall have to take our own oxygen with us, which means a much heavier flying saucer than we originally planned."

"Are there any other hazards that you discovered in your studies?"

"Over here you will notice what seems to be a river, but the satellite findings indicate it is polluted and the water is unfit to drink. This means we shall have to carry out own water which will add even greater weight to the saucer."

"Sir, what are all those tiny black spots on the photographs?"

"We're not certain. They seem to be metal particles that move along certain paths. They emit gases, make noise and keep crashing into each other. There are so many of these paths and so many metal particles that it is impossible to land a flying saucer without being smashed by one."

"What are those stalagmite projections sticking up?"

"THEY'RE SOME TYPE of granite formations that give off light at night. Professor Glom has named them skyscrapers since they seem to be scraping the skies."

"If all you say is true, won't this set back the flying saucer program several years?"

"Yes, but we shall proceed as soon as the Grubstart gives us the added funds."

"Professor Zog, why are we spending billions and billions of zilches to land a flying saucer on Earth when there is no life there?"

"Because if we Venusians can learn to breathe in an Earth atmosphere, then we can live anywhere."

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

It's Flim-Flam, Hoo-Malli-Malli, That Comes Out Of Brazilia

Fusselman

Flim-flam. Yes siree, that's the name of the game. It's hard to believe anything else. The I-J front page story on Tuesday, headed, "Economy-Model Vets Auditorium" and under the by-line of Wat Takeshita related among other things that "the board . . . reaffirmed its plans to earmark $195,000 for the construction job during 1968-69." Also that they would use $200,000 from the Juvenile Hall budgeted funds, if the hall expansion is not done at this time.

On a motion by Supervisor Peter H. Behr, the board declared that the second stage of the auditorium, estimated to cost $433,000 would have to be raised privately through public subscription, and proceeds from the courthouse sale would be used for tax reduction rather than for the auditorium. (Supervisor John F. McInnis opposed the transfer of funds, declaring that, if the $200,000 was not to be used at the hall, it should be used next year to help reduce taxes.)

Yes, it's hard to believe Behr could become foggy minded and really think the motion he made is anything but hoo-malli-malli.

LEND AN EAR. During the years we were trying to get a fairgrounds out of the talking stage and had submitted site after site to Sacramento for approval, only to be turned down, principally because a race track had been insisted upon by some of our board, we received a lot of criticism. The folks were fearful that the activity would result in a heavy increase in the tax burden.

They were assured that it would never happen, as everything would be paid for with pari-mutuel money collected by the state from horse racing and allocated to the counties conducting fair activities.

You can readily see what the present board is doing to that promise.

BEHR MUST KNOW that this board can not bind any future board — not even by ordinance. They can be amended and even rescinded under most conditions. Even an expression of intent has no weight. A new board in '69 could have entirely different ideas.

This great concern of his, now, for the taxpayer is interesting, you know. People haven't forgotten his arrogant speech last June: "I'm not going to let this tax rate frighten me."

Funny Business In Assessments? Bert Broemmel Has The Answer

For forthrightness by a political office ohlder, we salute County Assessor Bert W. Broemmel.

Last spring, Broemmel gave the county board of supervisors a prediction that assessed valuation of Marin County for fiscal 1968 would be about $522 million, an increase of slightly less than 8 per cent over last year.

County Administrator Alan Bruce was then well along in budget preparation. The increase — less than Bruce had expected — pointed directly at a tax rate hike.

As supervisors went into budget sessions, estimates of the necessary tax rate boost ran as high as 15 cents.

THEN, ON JUNE 21, the assessor's office gave the supervisors a new estimate of assessed valuation: $535-725,000.

The supervisors heaved a collective sigh of relief. The additional $13 million valuation meant, of course, considerably more revenue at the same tax rate.

The board wound up by increasing the tax rate a half-cent anyhow — but this was much less than supervisors had feared.

TAX RATE INCREASES, you see, make supervisors unpopular because they must set the rate. Assessment increases please the supervisors because they mean more money for each cent on the tax rate. Assessment increases please the supervisors because they mean more money for each cent on the tax rate. They make the assessor unpopular, but the supervisors don't worry about that: he can do his own political fence-mending, they figure.

When the returns were all in, the county's assessed valuation turned out to be $534,516,696 — very close to Broemmel's June 21 estimate. If he had hit it right on the nose, the county tax rate would have dropped fractionally instead of going up half a cent.

NOW, THERE ARE SOME suspicious people abroad in the land. There were some who thought there might be some funny business in that sudden $13 million valuation increase which enabled the supervisors to avoid an unpopular tax rate hike.

Humorist Bill Nye once wrote, "We owe it to our country to pay our taxes without murmuring; the time to get in our fine work is on the valuation."

That could work both ways, some people figured, and maybe the supervisors or Bruce has persuaded the assessor to hike some appraisal figures for political reasons.

I put this to Bert Broemmel the other day, and here is his reply:

"The first day that anybody comes to me with that request, I'm going to blast it out in the paper and demand time on television."

Broemmel explained the increase this way: He knew much property in the county needed to be reappraised, but in April he did not think his staff could get it all done. However, by instituting a "crash program," he succeeded in reappraising an additional 15,000 parcels — and thereby bringing assessed valuation more nearly in line with the 23 per cent of market value which the state Board of Equalization figures it should be.

He was able to do this by abolishing the assessor's "information centers" operated the last few years during the appraisal period. He was helped also by the new law providing for an assessment appeals board, which enables the appraisers to work later in the year by giving property owners more time for protests.

The natural tendency of the human mind is to get rid of facts, and if obliged to retain a few, to mutilate them beyond recognition. — Isabel Patterson.

PERHAPS we are a bit premature, but we have had so many inquiries from people expressing an interest in this beautiful quiet and secluded area, that we have opened a temporary office, and are now taking reservations on the limited number of breathtaking view sites and secluded sites which are encompassed by trees. The New Model Homes are under construction, the sites are ready, but the streets are not yet paved. Wear your old clothes, because it is dusty. We are sure that when you see this exciting setting, which we feel is outstanding and cannot be duplicated, you will be pleasantly surprised.

Our Salesmen will be on the site all day Saturday, Sunday, November 4th & 5th. During the following week by appointment. The phone at the site is 454-3768 or call 479-9611 for further information.

EDWARDIAN CHARM

The entry garden of this older home, with its trees and flowers that evoke an earlier era, casts a magic spell over the visitor, and like a time machine takes him back to the world of yesterday. Irene Castle might have taken tea on the spacious, enclosed porch, and then danced her way into the living-dining room with its wainscoating and painted brick fireplace. If you're nostalgic for a gentler time, yet want the conveniences of today, this 3 bedroom, 2 bath house is for you.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Elderly May Skip Meals, Suffer From Deficiency Of Vitamins

VAN DELLEN

Many elderly individuals are ideal candidates for vitamin deficiency diseases. They eat too little and have a limited selection of foods. But, despite these shortcomings, less than 2 per cent encounter symptoms traceable to vitamin deficiencies.

The oldster without teeth or poorly fitting dentures is also prone to nutritional disorders. He avoids foods that are difficult to chew, including meat, an important source of proteins, vitamin B complex, and thiamine.

The less thiamine in the diet, the less appetite the person has, and a round robin is in the making.

MONEY ALSO plays a role in lack of balanced menus, because some of our essential foods are expensive. Meats and fruit juices head the list.

An elderly couple who move from a large to a small home may have inadequate facilities for food storage and cooking.

In addition, they are forgetful, and when out of staple items are more inclined to go without than to make a trip to the grocer. Many of our senior citizens become indifferent to eating, particularly after senility sets in.

EMOTIONAL UPSETS have the same effect on appetite in the old as in the young.

Most physicians have aged patients who are frustrated, disillusioned, unhappy, or resentful because of financial or physical dependence, insecurity, and loneliness.

Attitudes such as these encourage many to drink too much, which is harmful, particularly when the practice interferes with eating.

BUT THE MAN or woman most likely to suffer from nutritional deficits is the victim of heart disease, cancer, ulcer, anemia, or chronic bronchitis.

These persons do not feel like eating and often have a faulty digestive system. Unless watched carefully, they lose weight and strength. By serving inviting menus they can be encouraged to eat properly.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the Independent-Journal.)

FLABBY FAT

Mrs. N.J. writes: What causes flabby fatness in a child?

REPLY

Inactivity rather than diet. Most active youngsters who eat well are solid.

TELEVISION REVIEW

A Public Service First On Sunday

By RICK DUBROW

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A history-making step toward a national public television service takes place Sunday. Educational video's first live, weekly, coast-to-coast series, "Public Broadcast Laboratory" (PBL for short) bows in on about 120 stations. It will last two hours, starting 8:30 p.m. EST, and is the first of 25 programs this season.

The frankly experimental series will be journalistically oriented, but will try to encompass the entire range of human activity, from politics to the arts. It is also, of course, non-commercial. And the fact of interconnection is greatly important to those who see the enormous impact that can be effected by a national, non-commercial community of viewers.

"PBL" arrives—out of New York—on the heels of Congress' approval of the historic public broadcasting bill that was skillfully maneuvered through the ropes by President Johnson. Although vast complexities, such as financing, remain to be worked out, the idea now is firmly established.

The new series is financed by the Ford Foundation, and is the culmination of several live, interconnected broadcasts by National Educational Television, which showed the potential of coast-to-coast programs by such a network. The first of these programs was President Johnson's last State of the Union address, in which he espoused the idea of a public broadcasting service. A more recent example was an interview with Josef Stalin's daughter, Svetlana.

Marin Tars To Tangle With Shasta In 'Big One'

It could be operation giant stride for the College of Marin Tars tomorrow night when they trek to Redding for a pivotal Golden Valley Conference battle against Shasta at 8 o'clock.

The outcome could go a long way in deciding the conference championship. Shasta is 4-0 in conference play, and the streaking Tars are 3-0. Both teams have 5-1 season marks. The Tars will still have two loop games to get out of the way after Saturday, but none will be as tough or as important as this one.

It's the classic match between a huge, grind-it-out ball control team (Shasta) and a swift, sometimes erratic but always dangerous, smaller club (Marin). Shasta, with a big front line led by returning All-League tackle Duane McKay, a 6-foot-2, 244-pound behemoth, likes to wear out its opponents with the rushes of 216-pound halfback John Pride and 208-pound fullback Al Lingenfelter. The Knights bash away between the tackles nine times out of ten — and then — pow!—they spring tiny flanker Dan Roberson (5-9, 145) on a deep reverse. Don't spare any pity on the mighty mites — he's a 9.8 man in the century and has picked up 516 yards on 56 carries this fall, a tidy 9.1 average gain, as well as leading the northerners in pass catching with 14 catche sfor 272 yards.

Shasta likes to get a lead and then sit on it — often an uncomfortably apt phrase to the hapless backs who end up buried under the likes of All-League tackle Ron Garske (6-3, 236) or Harlen Hunt, (6-2, 228) who was merely honorable mention last year. Running on Shasta can be extremely difficult, but Marin coach Dick Read isn't without hopes that it can be done.

"They're real big — as always" — sighed Read, "but we think we can offset that weight advantage with our superior speed and our passing game. We think our halfbacks and receivers — our outside men — are the best in the league — and they'll create some problems for Shasta. If our line blocks well and we hit our passes, I think we'll move the ball well on them."

With a dry field, Bill Ingram, Dean Lazzarini, and Honor Jackson can put points on the board against any defense. The offensive line sputters at times, but can be an effective unit when it hits, opening holes for Lazzarini and hard-running Tim Harr, or holding off rushers while Ingram is looking for a familiar sight — Jackson open behind an outclassed defender. If Jackson is double-covered, a likely enough eventuality, Ingram can throw to his backs, Harr, Lazzarini, or Sonny Smith, or to ends Bill Kilcoyne and Len Pieri.

A useful adjunct to the offense is the work of Pieri and Harr on punt returns. Tim has three TDs on kicks this year, Pieri one plus several more than 30 yards.

Defensively, the front line of Rich Cohen, Tom Heacox, Terry Pascoe, Rusty Poole and Rich Woodall has been strong against the run — which it will have to be against the Knights — while putting on a fair pass rush. The linebacking, with Jim Crisp and Bill Hickerson, is the best in the league.

One problem in the backfield — safety Joe Cunningham, headed for an All-Star spot and a likely interception record (six so far) has been bothered by a knee injury. He'll play, but how well is the big question. Fred Daniele was the best defensive back on the field last week and will start at a corner with Carl Stein. Brian Whitney will be at the other safety, opposite Cunningham.

"We just have to go up there and beat them if we want the championship" says Reid. "It's there if we want it, but we'll have to earn it — they aren't going to give it to us."

The weather report is fair for the weekend. If that holds true, the Tars will have a fine chance for a big win. If it rains — well, a Tar is a sailor, isn't he?

Young Girls In Sports; My, How Times Change

GIRL TALK — Did you know that the sporting girls of Marin County high schools have become officially athletic?

Hell's belles, when I was a schoolboy eons ago the girls may have been pretty sporty, but not very athletic, and the only way they earned a block letter was with a promise.

Our girl athletes were not official nor were they organized. They were just plain sugar 'n' spice girls who studied silly things like Home Ec, typing and shorthand. Their most strenuous activities were tiddlywinks, ring-around-the-rosey, kneesies at Peter Pan's Creamery and a wild game of patty-cake occasionally.

But golly, Molly, times have changed. The Marin County Athletic League this year has recognized the little dumplings as genuine athletes and is sanctioning seven sports for championship competition, including swimming, tennis, volleyball, goodieminton (I mean bad), gymnastics, basketball and track and field. Look, Ma, the broad jump!

(There's this couple parked at Inspiration Point and SHE sighs to HIM: "If you'll go steady with me I'll let you wear my lettergirl sweater.")

It's Good For Their Health

Now don't get me wrong. I like girls in sports. For one thing, it keeps them off the streets. Also, it's good for their health.

But one major problem bothers me. By today's teen tonsorial standards, how will league officials know that some of the hers aren't really hims?

We've had cases here in Marin where long-tressed boys were kicked off teams because they refused to cut their hair. What's to prevent these boys from playing girls' sports? Wouldn't you be suspicious if some alleged little cupcake ran the 100-yard dash in 9.4 seconds? Or scored 42 points in a basketball game? Or swam the 100 faster than Johnny Weissmuller, with or without crocodiles?

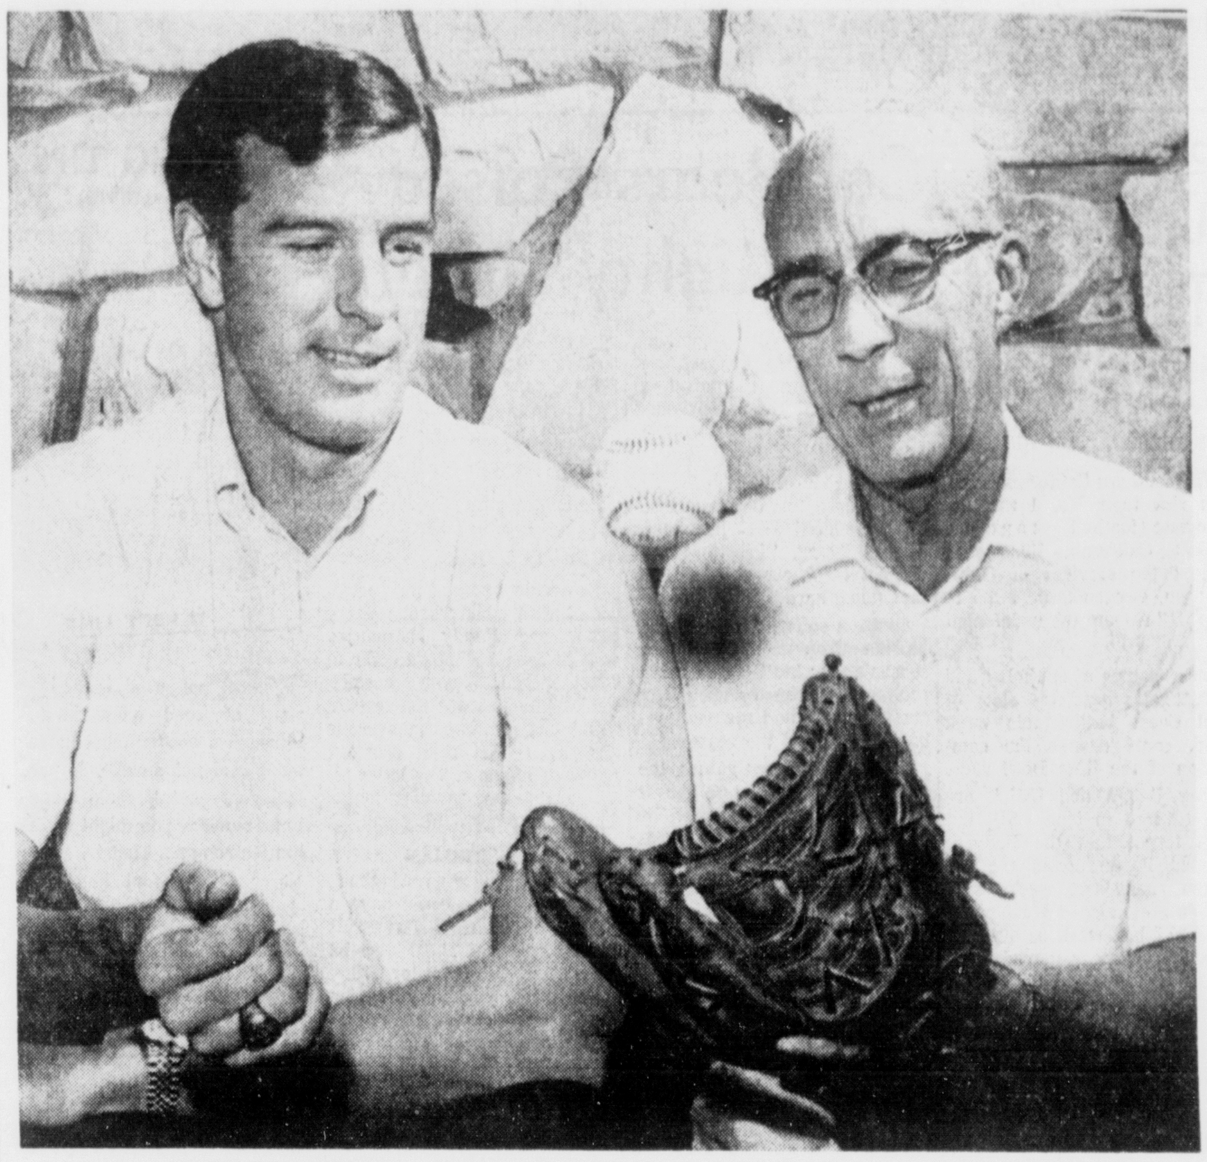
What's Next? Physical Exams?

There's one sure way to combat this problem: That is to follow a practice established a year ago by international track and field officials and force female athletes to undergo physical examinations to verify their . . . uh . . . er . . . femininity.

When the international authorities started this rule it really knocked hell out of the Russian women's team Some of those Russian girls indignantly refused the examination In fact, some of them got so mad they went home and beat up their wives and kids.

So, to prevent any hanky-panky in our new Lollipop League, let's have physical exams before each meet.

And if our hippie-haired teen-age males want to participate in sports, let them be pom-pon boys at the girls' games.



CY YOUNG WINNER AND DAD — Boston Red Sox pitcher Jim Lonborg visited his father Ray Lonborg in San Luis Obispo Monday. It's Sandy Day For Arnie, Dandy Day For Weiskopf

HONOLULU (AP) — "Those sand traps killed me," said Arnold Palmer. The Hawaiian trade winds killed a bunch more.

But nothing bothered Tom Weiskopf, an old married man of 26 — who couldn't make a dime in the Hawaiian Open on his honeymoon last year.

Weiskopf, 6-3 and 175 pounds, posted a steady — "Nothing spectacular," he said—68 four under par for the Waialae course that reaches along a Pacific reef.

That gave him the first round lead in this $100,000 tournament, over two fellows hardly anyone had heard of, Jim Grant and John Felus, who had 69s.

Grant, a recent graduate of the PGA school, is in his second tournament. Felus, smallest player in the field at 5-4, has been around a little longer but has never won more than $900.

Palmer, who took most of the gallery of about 8,000 with him around the tropical course — which had a rainbow arched over the back nine all afternoon —had an even par 72 that he said "should have been a 68.

"I birdied the 14th to go three under," he said, "and I figured there was no way I could miss 68. Then I hit the trap on the 16th, tried a fancy pants shot and left it in there. My next one was long and I two-putted for a double bogey.

"On the very next hole I did it again. I hit a bad trap shot and wound up with a bogey. I'll have to do better today. I played well and putted reasonably well."

Slender George Archer, who always plays well here, had 70, as did New Zealand left-hander Bon Charles.

The brisk trade winds blew scores into the high 70s for some of the best known players.

Gay Brewer, winner here in 1965 and runnerup last year, had 76. Defending champion Ted Makalena had 78. Chi Chi Rodrigues went to 79. Tony Jacklin of England had 76.

Steve Spray, runnerup in last week's Sahara Invitational, finished with an eagle three for 73, after being four over par for six holes. "I'm ready for Friday," he said. "I'm getting the hang of it."

Cerrudo Has 76

Ron Cerrudo of San Rafael, making his first appearance on the Professional Golf Association tour, did not burst on the scene in a blaze of glory. He shot a first-round 76, eight strokes off the pace and the same as his golfing friend Bob Smith of Sacramento, also a newly-turned pro.

Jim Lonborg Is Named A.L. Winner Of Cy Young Award

NEW YORK (AP) — Jim Lonborg, whose 22 victories helped the Boston Red Sox capture their first American League pennant in 21 years, was named winner today of the Cy Young Award as the circuit's outstanding pitcher.

The 25-year-old right-hander from San Luis Obispo, Calif., collected 18 votes from the 20 members of the Baseball Writers Association of America who participated in the balloting.

This is the first year that one pitcher representing each league has been honored by the baseball writers. Mike McCormick, veteran left-hander of the San Francisco Giants ,was chosen the National League's top pitcher earlier this week. The Young Award was originated in 1956.

Lonborg lost only nine games while tying Detroit's Earl Wilson for most A.L. victories. He also paced the circuit in strikeouts with 246 and walked only 83 batters in 273 innings. His earned run average was 3.16.

"I'm pleased, but I'm not surprised," Lonborg said in San Luis Obispo when he learned of the award.

Lonborg's most notable triumph was achieved on the final day of the season when he pitched a seven-hitter in defeating Minnesota 5-3. The victory coupled with Detroit's loss to California in the second game of a doubleheader enabled the Red Sox to clinch first place.

A 6-foot-6, 195-pound native of Santa Maria, Calif., Lonborg joined the Red Sox in 1965 after spending two years in the minors, one with Winston-Salem of the Carolina League and the other with Seattle of the Pacific Coast League. He posted a 9-17 record for Boston in 1965 and was 10-10 in 1966.

The voting was based on regular season performances. In the World Series, Lonborg won two games before losing the seventh and deciding game, 7-2, to the St. Louis Cardinals.

Horlen won 19 games and lost seven for the fourth-place White Sox. Among his victories was a no-run, no-hit game against Detroit on Sept. 10. He led the A.L. in ERA with 2.06, struck out 103 batters and walked 58.

Lonborg is the first right-hander to win the Young Award since 1964 when it was given to Dean Chance of the Los Angeles Angels.

Sandy Koufax of the Los Angeles Dodgers, the winner in 1963, also took it in 1965 and 1966, retiring after the latter campaign.

Other previous winners were Don Newcombe of Brooklyn in 1956, Warren Spahn of Milwaukee in 1957, Bob Turley of the New York Yankees in 1958, Early Wynn of the Chicago White Sox in 1959, Vern Law of Pittsburgh in 1960, Whitey Ford of the Yankees in 1961 and Don Drysdale of the Dodgers in 1962.

Parrish Wants NFL To Join Teamsters

CLEVELAND (AP) — Bernie Parrish, a former defensive back with the Cleveland Browns, is asking National Football League players to join in organizing a union which would be affiliated with the teamsters.

Parrish said last night he is sending to all NFL players a copy of a 16-page document attacking NFL owners and the NFL Players Association and proposing formation of a union to be called the American Federation of Professional Athletes.

The 31-year-old Parrish was an officer in the Players Association for several years while he played with the Browns. He was released by the Browns at his own request last year after losing his starting job at cornerback. He signed with Houston of the American Football League but now is retired.

Parrish blasted the Players Association as a "company union" and criticized its legal counsel , Creighton Miller, a former Notre Dame player. He said Miller hadn't fought hard enough for the players.

Miller was not available for comment.

Mike Pyle of the Chicago Bears, head of the NFL Players Association, and Pete Rozelle NFL commissioner, declined comment.

He proposes a $15,000-a-year minimum for NFL players and $500 a game payment for exhibitions. The present NFL minimum is $12,000, and players get $10 a day during preseason campaigning.

Parrish said he had heard from several Browns' players and that there was a "very good reaction" to his letter. "They like the idea of a stronger organization to represent them," he said.

If he gets 30 per cent of the players to sign up, Parrish said, he will file with the National Labor Relations Board.

He said he was not inviting American Football League players to join at present.

Terra Linda Shoots For Title-Clincher Tomorrow

Trojans At Peak Form For Battle At Novato

Terra Linda Trojans, their proud defense still untouched, can clinch at least a share of the Marin County Athletic League football title tomorrow afternoon in Novato if they can get by the Novato Hornets, who are fairly pleased with their own defense.

The whole thing unfolds tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock on the same field where one scoreless tie already has been played.

Terra Linda coach Don Lucas figures that probably won't happen because his Torjans are more or less hale and hearty and eager to go, especially with the prize within sight.

"We're at our top physical strength since the Redwood game," he said. "We're ready for this one. We've done a lot of hard work this week."

SPORADIC OFFENSE

"They moved the ball real well against Montgomery last week," he said. "That Davenport boy looked pretty good passing."

That Davenport boy is Greg Davenport, who took over for junior phenon Russ Dillon last week and completed 10 of 18 passes for 127 yards in Novato's 6-6 tie. Dillon is out for the season with torn ankle ligaments.

Novato coach Al Scott also figures his Hornets have improved.

"We have better balance in our offense now," he said. "We know we can't just rely on the pass."

TROJANS TOUGH

And he knows the Trojans, beaten only once in MCAL play by Drake on a safety, will be tough.

"Heck, they haven't allowed a touchdown in league play," he said. "They must have a pretty good defense. We'll have to beat them on a field goal or something."

Novato, however, has been mighty stingy, too. Except for the Drake game, in which the defense gave up a pair of touchdowns, the Hornets haven't allowed much scoring, giving up only a pair of touchdowns in three games.

It may turn out to be a grudging afternoon but the Trojans want that title awfully bad.

REDWOOD AIMS ACE PASSER AT SANTA ROSA

Redwood High's Giants, their Marin County Athletic League championship hopes all but dead, play a non-league scrap tomorrow against Santa Rosa High at College of Marin Stadium starting at 2 o'clock.

The visiting Panthers of the North Bay League can expect plenty of fireworks from Redwood junior quarterback Jim Peters who last week shattered three school records in a 20-26 loss to Drake.

Peters' new records are: Most yardage passing in a season, 894; most touchdown passes, 7; and most yardage passing in a single game, 282.

Redwood Coach Bob Troppmann says Santa Rosa has improved steadily since a 32-7 loss to Terra Linda early in the season.

Redwood has a 2-2 league record, one game behind coleaders Drake and Terra Linda. The Giants are 5-2 over-all.

San Rafael, Tam Clash A Kentfield

Tamalpais High football coach Willie Hector is waiting. So is San Rafael coach Bob Muster.

"One of these days we'll jell," Hector said of his Tamalpais Indians. "One of these days we'll stop killing ourselves with mistakes."

"They're a sound football team," Muster said "They have good backs, receivers, a big line, everything. One of those days, they'll put a game together."

Like tonight, maybe?

Tonight at 8 o'clock the Indians and Bulldogs clash in a Marin County Athletic League battle at Kentfield that will be the Indians' next-to-last chance to chalk up an MCAL victory. And it could keep the Bulldogs' flickering title hopes alive.

"We're not out of it yet," Muster said of his Bulldogs, who have a 1-1-1 record in loop play. "As long as there's a chance, we'll keep hoping."

The Indians, who have been killed inside the 20-yard line so many times they think it's a Viet Cong minefield, will give the Bulldogs some interesting defensive problems.

"We'll have to spread our defenses," Muster said. "They make you cover the whole field. They can go long, inside, outside, what have you. They have speed in Luther Brown, power in Ron Blasingame and Mike Fowler and a pass and receiving threat in Don Mackin and Leroy Barrow."

"I stil don't know much about San Rafael," Hector said. "I just want us to put a game together and stop making mistakes."

Oregon State Threatens UCLA Record

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Wile Southern California's Trojans risk their No. 1 national collegiate football standing against California this week without the services of O. J. Simpson, Oregon State aims to drop UCLA from the undefeated list.

Those games at Berkeley and Los Angeles head the slate of West Coast battles this week which could change the complexion of the Rose Bowl race.

Gary Beban and UCLA are also favored to beat OSU, but can't forget that the Beavers dumped Purdue from the unbeaten ranks two weeks ago. Oregon State ripped Washington State 35-7 last week as quarterback Steve Preece moved up to No. 2 in the Pacific-8 ground gaining race with 922 yards.

Simpson heads the list with 1,083 with all but 33 on the ground.

SEATTLE BATTLE

Washington, with a 3-1 conference record, can't be counted out of the title race but faces a tough assignment in the Indians of Stanford. The battle at Seattle pits the great Husky defense against the multiple attack of Stanford.

Oregon, with a 1-6 record, goes after its first conference victory in facing the winless Cougars of Washington State at Pullman.

Much of the interest centers in Los Angeles where the Bruins of UCLA, after a bye ,try to maintain their perfect record. Coach Tommy Prothro's crew has linebacker Don Manning, defensive halfback Andy Herrera and probably tailback Greg Jones off the injured list.

Among the independents, San Jose State plays host to Wyoming's Cowboys and Colorado State is at University of the Pacific.

Yaz Pact Hits Record $224,000

CUMBERLAND, Md. (AP) — Carl Yastrzemski, the slugging star of the Boston Red Sox, negotiated a record $224,000 contract last month, the Cumberland Times said today.

In his daily column, Sports Editor J. Suter Kegg said in addition to the $100,000 salary for the 1968 season, Yastrzemski was given a contract which also called for:

—$62,000 more for himself, spread over a five-year period.

—$50,000 for his father to act as a Red Sox scout, with amount also spread over a five-year period.

—$12,000 to send a brother to college.

When Yastrzemski signed last month, after helping the Red Sox win the American League pennant while he captured the Triple Crown, published reports mentioned only the $100,000 figure.

White Sox Get Okay

CHICAGO (AP) — The American League, by a 9-1 vote, approved yesterday the Chicago White Sox schedule of nine games to be played in Milwaukee next season.

The Sox will meet every oth- will have a pre-season exhibition in Milwaukee with the Chicago Cubs.

Plans for the games were revealed earlier this week by Arthur Allyn, White Sox owner, who said league approval would be needed.

The only team reportedly against the plan was Baltimore.

Approval came at a routine schedule-making meeting of league representatives presided over by Joe Cronin, League president.

Cal Bears Poised For Mighty Upset

BERKELEY (AP) — Southern California battles tomorrow against Californa to protect its No. 1 football rating but must do it without the star instrumental in gaining the top spot — halfback O. J. Simpson.

"This is a team with character," declared USC linebacker Adrian Young. "I believe that without O. J. we will just try that much harder."

Simpson suffered a foot injury as the Trojans boosted their season's mar kto 7-0 with a 28-6 conquest of Oregon and he'll be out tomorrow and may not get back the rest of the season.

Through the seven games, the swift back gained 1,050 yards rushing, best in the nation by far, and also threw for 33 yards good for a touchdown.

California opened the season with victories in three of its first four games but now stands 3-4 and in a position for a major upset.

The Bears go into the game in solid physical condition, having suffered no injuries in last week's 23-6 loss to Washington, a club which the Trojans beat by that same score.

California poses an aerial threat with quarterbacks Barry Bronk and Randy Humphries and the league's top receiver in 6-foot 7-inch Wayne Stewart. Paul Williams leads the rushers with a four-yard-a-carry average and John McGaffie provides power at fullback. The latter also caught the winning touchdown pass against Michigan.

BUSY TROJAN

Southern California wingback Jimmy Lawrence could have a busy afternoon. He'll start at his regular spot but could also be the No. 1 replacement for Grady at tailback. Hurdle champion Earl McCullouch has been working at the wing as well as his usual split end position in the moves to compensate for Simpson's loss.

"He got us where we are," McKay declared of Simpson. "Now we'll have to go it on our own."

Even without Simpson, the Trojans are heavy favorites to turn back the Bears a ninth straight time with a crowd of 45,000 expected for the 1:30 p.m. kickoff.

S.F. Stater Near Record

NE WYORK (AP) —Bob Toledo of San Francisco State has moved to within one of the all-time college record for touchdown passes while retaining his lead in total offense among the nation's small-college football players.

The latest statistics compiled by National Collegiate Sports Services revealed today that Toledo is No. 1 in total offense with 2,224 yards, 91 more than runner-up Rich Lichtel of Boomsburg, Pa.

Toledo's four touchdown passes against Sacramento State last weekend increased his total for the campaign to 31 . The record of 32 is shared by Jerry Rhome of Tulsa and George Bork of Northern Illinois. Bork set the mark in 1963 and Rhome tied it in 1964.

Lichtel has the most pass completions . 153. Then comes Joe Stetser of Chico State with 141 and Toledo, 138.

Prep Cage Death During Practice

LAS VEGAS, N.M. (AP) — A West Las Vegas Junior High School basketball player collapsed during practice yesterday and died.

A doctor said an autopsy showed stomach juices filled the youth's lungs, collapsed them and suffocated Michael Rodriguez, 14.

The doctor said the youth apparently ate a big meal before practice. Resuscitation efforts failed.

BOWLING TIPS

By DON CARTER

Control, not speed, is the byword of good bowling, although a bowler must move along and not dawdle. If you feel your control could stand improvement, you might try a shorter run-up. That is, start closer to the foul line and shorten all of your steps, most importantly the first.

Novato Runners Tie For Lead

Novato High School's thinclads moved into a three-way tie for the Marin County Athletic League cross-country league lead by thumping Marin Catholic, 15-50 yesterday at Novato.

Don Makela, Ron Elijah, Darrell Walton, Bob Smith and Joey Thompson finished one through five for the Hornets, who are tied with Redwood and Tamalpais for the lead.

Terra Linda dropped San Rafael in another dual meet at Terra Linda, 20-40, with distance ace Bob Bunnell finishing first for the Trojans, followed by teammate Jeff Cochran.

Clay Now Calls Chicago His Home

HOUSTON (AP) — Cassius Clay apparently doesn't want to be a Houston resident anymore.

A motion filed in behalf of the former heavyweight champion yesterday stated he did not live in Harris County (Houston) Tex., but in Cook County (Chicago), Ill.

The motion, filed by Houston lawyer M.W. Plummer, sought court dismissal of a $284,615 suit filed against Clay 16 days ago by the boxer's former attorney, Hayden Covington of New York.

The motion requested that the case be transferred—if not dismissed—to Clay's home town for "convenience in calling witnesses."

Clay was convicted last June on a charge of failing to submit to induction into the Armed Services. He was given a five-year prison sentence and fined $10,000. His case is on appeal in the U.S. Court of Appeals for the Fifth Circuit.

Covington's suit, which was filed in U.S. Dist. Judge Allen B. Hannay's court Oct. 16, requested $209,615 for Covington's fee in representing the boxer and an additional $75,000 with which to pay his own attorneys. Covington stated in his petition that Clay had paid him $11,250.

Domestic groups stripped Clay of his heavyweight title and recently he was denied permission by a federal judge to leave this country to fight overseas while the case in on appeal. In his plea to leave the United States Clay said he needed money for attorney fees.

Before he was convicted Clay had his draft file transferred from Louisville, Ky., to Houston which he claimed as his home.

A Hunting Safari To Mexico; Botulism In Kern River Area

STEVENS

As promised in yesterday's column, the safari to Mexico is the first subject for today's effusion. The details follow:

Winchester World Safaris to Cabo San Lucas on the southern tip of Baja, California get under way this month when white wing dove shooting season opens on that rugged, remote Mexican peninsula.

According to Winchetser News Bureau: "This is one of the most popular of the 20 different shooting and fishing trips now being offered by Winchester through its World-Wide Safari program for good reason: For only $695 plus air transportation, an American sportsman can enjoy five full days of the finest wing shooting and big game fishing to be found anywhere in the hemisphere — all this while living amidst the comfort and splendor of the renowned Hotel Cabo San Lucas.

"INCLUDED IN the basic price of $695 is round-trip air taxi service to Cabo San Lucas, all meals, deluxe hotel accommodations, full services of hunting and fishing guides, use of the hotel's aircraft services and fishing boats, Winchester shotguns and ammunition, fishing tackle, and Mexican hunting and fishing licenses."

For further information, contact Winchester World-Wide Safaris, 275 Winchester Avenue, New Haven, Conn. 06504.

So that's that. Sounds like a nice package deal for our local sportsmen who have some spare dollars that need circulation.

A READER called to ask if the rumored outbreak of botulism among waterfowl in the Kern River area is a fact rather than an unfounded rumor. Sad to relate it is a fact. The Department of Fish and Game estimates 30,000 to 60,000 birds have been exposed to the disease; 10,000 already have died; 3,500 have been picked up and piled to be burned; another 3,500 sick birds are being treated and moved to fresh water about 30 miles away.

Hunters should shoot only birds on the wing, and club members as well as unattached hunters should be careful in handling sick or dead birds. All dead ducks should be burned.

FOR A CHANGE, let's pass along some happy news of local angling. It isn't happy news of salmon trolling outside the Golden Gate, but striped bass are in good quantity in the San Pablo Bay. From Quan's China Camp spot the word is: "Terrific! Lots of fish and some lunkers being taken straight out from the wharf to the Pump House. Some nice catches of flounders have been made, too," reported Alice Quan.

DORIS MARSHALL, reporting from Oakland, verified the report and added that the boat, R.S.P., netted 7 limits of bass to 13 pounds and one 20-pound halibut in the Red Rock area. Sal Fazio, in a skiff, limited to 15 pounds, and another angler had 3 nice bass to 12 pounds — all on live bait drifting. Red Rock and the Brothers sector have paid off nicely. Popular bait has been the bullhead in most cases.

No news from South Tower, Alcatraz or Racoon Strait, but reports of fair to good luck off California City.

HELLO THERE, PUCK

Seals Hope To End Skid

OAKLAND (UPI) — It will be Pittsburgh tomorrow and the Chicago Black Hawks on Sunday as the California Seals try to end their eight-game winless streak.

The Seals opened up a home stand by dropping a 2-0 decision to the New York Rangers in a game distinguished by the sharp play of little Charlie Hodge in the goal.

"The only thing wrong with Charlie," said Coach Bert Olmstead following Wednesday's loss, "is that he can't score."

Forwards Boom Boom Caron and Mike Laughton, just brought up from the minors, looked sharp in their opener and still could beef up the Seals' attack.

Williams: 'I Was Wrong In Not Talking To Sal'

BOSTON (AP) —Boston Red Sox Manager Dick Williams says he was wrong in not telling Sal Maglie that he was replacing him as pitching coach.

"I was wrong not telling him myself that I was changing my pitching coach," Williams said in a telephone interview published in the Boston Globe today.

Williams was in Singer Island, Palm Beach Shores, Fla., when interviewed. His remarks were in response to sharp criticism of him from Sal Maglie, one-time star pitcher for the New York Giants and Brooklyn Dodgers.

"I have great respect for Sal Maglie as a pitcher and as a gentleman. But I made a decision to change coaches so Sal had to go," Williams said.

"I am sorry that Sal feels that way," he said after listening to a report of Maglie's comments.

"I don't want to get into any session with Sal," he said. "As for lacking courage—well, I made an error in not calling Sal to tell him he was through."

Maglie had said that Williams "never listened to me" during the season and "never had the courage or decency to tell me I was fired" afterwards.

Maglie also said Williams used poor judgement in not taking ace pitcher Jim Lonborg out of the seventh game of the World Series sooner. St. Louis Cardinals' batters pounded Lonborg before he was removed. St. Louis won the game 7-2.

Locker Shocker In Texas Sports

ABILENE, Tex. (UPI) — There's a sports writer who can never do interviews in the dressing room after the big game, and who always causes a stir in the press box. She is 23-year-old, 5-foot-7, Margaret Koy, a fulltime sports writer with the Abilene Reporter-News.

Margaret's lineage is the best for this sort of work: her father, Ernie Koy, was a football star at the University of Texas and a professional baseball player in the major leagues; one brother, Ernie, is with the New York football Giants; another brother, Ted, plays football for Texas.

O. J. Simpson Will Suit Up For Tomorrow's Cal Game

LOS ANGELES (AP) — O. J. Simpson, Southern California's fleet junior halfback, will make the trip to Berkeley and suit up Saturday as his Trojan mates take on California.

Simpson suffered a sprain of the right instep last Saturday as the No. 1-ranked Trojans walloped Oregon, 28-6. At first it was thought the injury was minor, but a later examination indicated he might be out for the remainder of the season.

Now Coach John McKay feels Simpson's progress has been so good, the 6-foot-1, 205-pound runner might even see some action Saturday although he hasn't worked out this week.

Sports Group Formed For University Games

NEW YORK (AP) — The U.S. Collegiate Sports Council was formed today for the purpose of sponsoring U.S. participation in the biennial University Games.

Previously this job was handled largely by the U.S. State Department.

The new organization, which will have a central office in New York, will be made up of representatives from the major university control groups — the National Collegiate Athletic Association, the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics, the National Junior College Athletic Association, the U.S. Student Association — plus the American Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation.

"Our primary purpose is to see that the United States is properly represented in these world-wide Games," Fowler said, in making the announcement. "Each of the participating groups will have one man on the Executive Committee."

The United States had only 41 representatives in the inaugural games at Budapest, Hungary, in 1965 but had 65 at Tokyo this year. The aim is for at least 100 American men and women.

Fowler and the Council currently are engaged in organizing a team for the Winter University Games at Innsbruck, Austria, next January just prior to the Winter Olympics at Grenoble, France.

The next Summer Student Games will be staged in 1969 in Spain, Portugal or Italy. The University Games are an Olympic-like type of competition restricted to students. Thirty-four nations were represented at Tokyo.

Central Valley, Fremont Banks Planning Merger

Directors of Central Valley National Bank have entered into an agreement to merge with the Bank of Fremont, which will become a member of the 31-branch Central Valley chain.

The Bank of Fremont, with total assets of $9.2 million, was established in 1964. Central Valley has total resources of approximately $215 million. Its Marin County branch is located in Novato.

CROCKER-CITIZENS NATIONAL BANK has opened the Crocker- Citizens Inter-National Bank in New York City to engage in foreign banking and financial operations.

NATIONAL AIRLINES shareholders have approved the two-for-one split of the company's common stock, to become effective at the close of business on Monday. The previous split was two years ago.

METROPOLITAN Oakland International Airport's passenger traffic passed the million mark during September —two months earlier than last year. The total for the first nine months ran 20.7 per cent ahead of the same period in 1966. Air freight increased 43.5 per cent; express 31.5 per cent, and mail 19.5 per cent.

PAN AMERICAN WORLD AIRWAYS, INC. preliminary and unaudited statement for September shows net income after taxes of $10.3 million or 31 cents a share compared to $8.9 million or 28 cents a share in September last year. Net income per share for the third quarter of the year was $1.06 a share, compared to $1.29 a share last year.

CONSOLIDATED FOODS CORP. has arranged a $40 million revolving credit agreement with 12 banks for three years. The stated purpose is to convert some of its short-term bank borrowings into longer-term funds and to improve the company's working capital position.

Art Smith Sells Store To Mill Valley Buyers

The Art Smith Variety Store in San Anselmo — a "family Business" since 1933 — has been sold.

The store has been purchased by Fred W. Peters and Milton P. Richardson, owners of the Bennetts Variety Store in Mill Valley. Richardson, who had had ownership in Bennetts for 15 years, said he and his partner will continue this operation. Peters has been with him about 12 years. The two will divide their time between Mill Valley and San Anselmo, Richardson said.

Arthur W. (Mayor Art) Smith has operated the San Anselmo variety store since 1943. It was founded by his father as a Ben Franklin store in 1933 and has been a landmark at 528 San Anselmo Avenue in the heart of the city's central shopping district.

Smith is currently mayor of San Anselmo. He has been an active member of the San Anselmo City Council since 1943 and has been mayor at various times for a total of more than 10 years.

Mrs. Smith, who has assisted her husband in the store for a number of years, said he will not give up his civic activities. She said she will continue working part time for the new owners.

Stock Market Continues To Decline

NEW YORK (AP)—A stock market decline deepened late this afternoon following the erasure of a small early advance. Trading was fairly active.

Prices at the close included: Xerox, off 4⅛ at 277½; Polaroid, off 2 at 223; Phelps Dodge, off 3¼ at 64⅜; Caterpillar, off 1¾ at 42⅛; Seeburg, off 2⅛ at 20⅛; Fansteel, off 3¼ at 51¾; Occidental Petroleum, up 1½ at 107⅝; and Texas Instruments, off 5 at 110.

Trading quieted and it was more a question of lessening demand for stocks than active selling.

The approach of the weekend as well as the Tuesday holiday for election day were factors that made for caution.

Miles Laboratories, off nearly a point, paced the list on activity. Beneficial Finance trailed it in volume, losing a fraction on a block of 79,600 shares.
